Board Of Strategy Selected For Prohibition Drive

PLATFORM OF ACTIVITY TO BE DRAFTED

Temperance Leaders Decide on Vigorous Campaign As Final Action

MRS. BOOLE LEADS

Expect Liquor Question to Be of Increasing Importance As National Issue

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(UP)—
A board of strategy which will frame a vigorous platform of activities in support of prohibition has been selected by the nation's dry forces in preparation for future political campaigns.

As the closing action of the meeting here of representatives of 34 temperance organizations, selection of the board was characterized as a move to meet situations in which prohibition is expected to become of increasing importance as a campaign issue.

Mrs. Ella A. Boole, of Brooklyn, president of the W.C.T.U. and head of the national association of organizations supporting the eighteenth amendment during its sessions this week, was chosen to head the "combined committee on unified strategy."

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(UP)—
Issuance of new and stricter regulations governing the industrial alcohol, and discovery of a new non-poisonous denaturant will shortly reduce diversion of such alcohol by bootleggers to negligible proportions, Industrial Alcohol Commissioner James M. Moran predicted today.

The new regulations are now being drafted by the treasury and justice departments jointly and will be issued this month, Moran said.
He added they will make it harder than ever for bootleggers to obtain government denatured alcohol for their purposes.

Development of the new denatur-ant, known as alcotate, is the result of three years research work in government laboratories. The compound said to taste like "spoiled eggs and garlic," is to take the place of wood alcohol in all government formulae now using that poison.

Doran announced today also that he expects soon to issue permits for manufacture next year of another 2,000,000 gallons of whiskey for medicinal purposes. This manufacture was authorized this year for the first time since federal prohibition in order to replenish the nation's depleted medicinal whiskey stock.

JAPANESE EMPIRE POPULATION GAINS

TOKIO, Dec. 11.—(UP)—The official population of the Japanese empire, as announced here today, is 91,792,639, a gain of more than 7,000,000 persons over the 1925 census.

The official figures include the population of Kwantung leased territory, Southern Manchuria, and the South Seas Islands mandated to Japan under terms of the League of Nations settlement.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS

HECKE RESIGNS FROM STATE FARM OFFICE

Director Had Served State Under Three Governors

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11.—(UP)— Governor Elected James Rolph today was in receipt of the resignation of George H. Hecke, for 12 years director of the California department of agriculture.

Hecke, survivor of three state administrations, placed his resignation with the state board of agriculture which indicated acceptance.

The board issued the following statement:

"In receiving the resignation, this board wishes to state that Director Hecke has established an enviable record. He has built up a department second to none and his services in agricultural crises are deeply appreciated by California agriculture."

"The board has under consideration a successor to Director Hecke.
The board agrees with Director Hecke that at a time of general depression, complete harmony must prevail."

Hecke's resignation solves a political dilemma for Governor Rolph.
California agricultural organizations have been divided over the question of Hecke's retention.
Many felt that the department would be strengthened by the appointment of a marketing expert, marking that a production specialist has been for several years an irritant to overproduction, chief of agricultural trouble in the state.

Others rallied stoutly to defend Hecke's record as an organizer and supervisor of several divisions that have in other years been the props of agriculture—plant quarantine as it functioned during the Mediterranean fruit fly scare, animal husbandry in times of hoof and mouth outbreaks and the dairy division, which has staged an unremitting battle for the elimination of tuber-culous cattle in the state.

Hecke's critics have complained that his mistake was in helping to transfer state marketing into his department, then neglecting it.

The resignation, Hecke wrote, was to become effective at the pleasure of Governor Rolph.

The board announced that several candidates are under consideration.
Its recommendations will be forwarded to Rolph.

Begin Search For Santa Ana Teacher On Plane Journey

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11.—(UP)—
A search was started today for Miss Vanche Plumb, Santa Ana school teacher, who
plane for San Francisco.

She was coming here to visit her sister, Mrs. C. A.
Sterns, but has not yet appeared at Mrs. Sterns' home.

The plane in which she was flying to San Francisco was the NC1675 and was piloted by Vern Speich.

It was believed they would land at the municipal airport at Oakland but a check of all bay region airports failed to reveal their landing.

She 'Converts' Bandit With Duffield Kick

LOS ANGELES, Dec.
11.—(UP)—Mrs. George J.
Shank knows how to handle bandits. One tried to hold her up today. He won't try again.
Here's why:

As the masked man attempted to bind Mrs. Shank while covering her with a gun, she kicked him in the stomach.

The bandit bent over in pain. Mrs. Shank tapped him on the head with a hammer.

Dragging him by the heels from her home to the sidewalk, Mrs. Shank gave him a parting kick in a convenient spot and went back into the house to call the police.

The would-be bandit had fled when officers arrived.

OFFICERS RAID CAR INSURANCE FIRM IN L. A.

Claim Motorists In Southland Bilked of $600,000

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—(UP)— Detectives of the police bunco detail raided the offices of the Union National Automobile association today, seized the records and files of the concern and arrested five employees.

The detectives said that Investigation led them to believe that the company bilked Southern California automobile owners of more than $600,000 in an insurance scheme.

The employees were arrested on petty theft warrants. Jack Blank, manager of the Los Angeles office, and the San Francisco branch, was hunted, detectives said.

The raid came, according to police, after a score of complaints had been lodged with the department.

Detectives Swan and Marshall, who led the bunco squad, declared that salesmen collected $30 from motorists to whom it was represented they would be fully protected by accident insurance for legal services, towing service and other advantages.

It was asserted that when claims were made against the company the policy holders were shown a "joker" clause in the agreement which disclaimed responsibility for any acts of the members.

Those arrested were Edward R.
Carlisle, 25; Tom Mahoney, 30;
H. W. Clarke, 38; Roy Ingerson, 23, recently arrived from Detroit, and Wayne Staffan, 25.

Officials of the state insurance department here said that a number of complaints against the company had been received and turned over to the city prosecutor. It was explained that technically the salesmen sold memberships rather than actual insurance policies and that their activities did not come under the jurisdiction of the state insurance department for this reason.

EINSTEIN SCORES WITH NEW YORK SCRIBES IN AMERICAN PASTIME OF "WISECRACKING"

By JOE ALEX MORRIS

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—(UP)—Professor Albert Einstein, around whom there clusters the legend of being an aloof, retiring scientist, arrived on the liner Belgenland today and surprised New York by revealing himself as an expert at repartee and what Americans call the "wisecrack."

He stood on the deck of the liner and exchanged verbal thrusts with reporters and photographers, and when he became weary of the process—as he did on two occasions—he simply turned his back on them and walked away.

New York has lavished her hospitality on channel swimmers, aviators, premiers and kings, but never within memory has the city been so anxious to see and hear a man whose triumphs in the realm of Einstein talked on a variety of subjects—some of them unwillingly. He answered questions about prohibition, Russia, Adolf Hitler, and religion—subjects about which he confessed readily he knew little.

And at the end he handed out a typewritten statement in which he discussed seriously America's part in the economic and scientific scheme of things.

The crush on the deck of the Belgenland, as the liner steamed up the bay through a cloudy morning, was terrific. Radio broadcasters, newspaper photographers and reporters waged a three-cornered battle to get to the man who prop-ounded the theory of relativity. A husky radio announcer in a derby had seized Einstein's arm and commanded him to "stand right here professor."

In the midst of the turmoil the scientist turned suddenly and walked away, with the crowd in full pursuit. His three interpreters and his wife urged him to return and soon he was back, tugging at the brim of his broad hat. Again the confusion mounted and Einstein, smiling faintly, again turned away.

In the end he prevailed upon to come back and pose briefly for pictures and deliver a few words on the radio.

Inevitably, the first question that was put to Einstein was whether he could "explain briefly and for the lay mind" his theory of rela-tivity.

"It would take about three days," he said, "I don't have that much time."

An interpreter explained that Einstein would stay on the Belgenland while in port—departing only for a luncheon to be given by Adolph Ochs, publisher of the New York Times—and that he wanted as much quiet and peace as possible.

"You can see how much peace I am having on this boat," Einstein said smiling, as he waved his hand toward the crowd that penned him in. "I feel just like a Punch and

STRIKE UNDER WAY IN SPANISH CITY

MADRID, Dec. 11.—(UP)—A general strike began in Cadiz today, a dispatch to the Mencheta agency here said.

Strikers gathered on the outskirts of the city and attempted to impede the circulation of tramcars. Three trucks carrying beer and ice to shops in the port were overturned.

All business houses were closed and a food shortage was threatened if the strike continued. Civil guards patrolled the streets, but no clashes with strikers were reported.

SUNNYVALE IS GIVEN BACKING FOR AIR BASE

Naval Affairs Committee Makes Its Report
Today

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(UP)—
The house naval affairs committee today voted 18 to 1 in favor of Sunnyvale, near San Francisco, as a site for the new dirigible base, as a site for the new dirigible base.

The other site proposed was Camp
Kearney, near San Diego.

The committee voted to report favorably the bill of Representative Free providing for appropriation of $5,000,000 to establish the base at Sunnyvale.

This site was favored by Secretary of the Navy Adams and other navy officials, including Rear Admiral William A. Moffet, chief of the navy's bureau of aeronautics, which would graduate today that the Sunnyvale site had been selected.

Chairman Britten, of the house naval affairs committee, announced the decision publicly to Secretary of the Navy Adams, when the committee today resumed hearing on the naval building program.

The vote on the dirigible base site was taken in executive session.
Addressing Secretary Adams, who sat in the committee room, Britten said:

"Mr. Secretary, it is my privilege to announce to you that the Sunnyvale site has been selected for the west coast dirigible base.
We hope to put the authorization through at the present session of congress."

High navy officials expressed themselves as gratified at the action of the committee. Assistant Navy Secretary E. Jahncke said that he personally was "much pleased."

Commenting on the prospects for immediate construction on the new site, navy officials said that it would be some months before any work could be begun.

POLICE COMMISSION MUST PROVE CHARGE

SANTA BARBARA, Dec. 11.—It is a serious matter to accuse a person of accepting bribes and tipping off bootleggers to prospective raids, and the police commission should be the last body to make them unless it is ready to show proof, in the opinion of Mayor Theodore R.
Finley.

So Mayor Finley has ordered the Santa Barbara police commission to immediately "prove beyond reasonable doubt" its charges that Lieutenant H. S. Colt accepted bribes and tipped off bootleggers, or to take the consequences.

And the consequences, Mayor Finley added, will be the public firing of the entire commission.

George Otis Smith, nominated by President Hoover to be chairman of the Federal Power commission, told the senate interstate commerce committee today that he did "not believe in government ownership or operation of power facilities."

Smith expressed his opinion in reply to a question from Senator Watson, Republican, Indiana, during a committee hearing on the power commission nominations.

The prospective chairman told Chairman Cappers of the committee that he thought there should be "no gap between state and federal control of power."

CLOSE BANK OF UNITED STATES FOLLOWING RUN

Huge Merger Proposed to Aid Recovery of Institution

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—(UP)—
The state superintendent of banks, Joseph A. Broderick, today took possession of the Bank of United States, an institution which had deposits of $202,972,000.
There are 59 branches in New York City.

Heavy withdrawals were reported last night at 13 branches in the Bronx and Brooklyn.

Leading financial interests of the city, including representatives of J.
P. Morgan & Company and federal reserve authorities, worked all night in an effort to aid the bank
—the aid plan having centered on proposed merger.

The bank has its main office on Fifth avenue, just off the garment district, and branches scattered through Manhattan and other boroughs. C. Stanley Mitchell is chairman of the board, Leonard K. Mar-

DECLARES TRADE OBSTACLES PREVENT WORLD RECOVERY

RIVERSIDE, Calif., Dec. 11.
(UP)—The present economic depression, augmented to no small degree by tariff revisions since 1921, have raised obstacles to the normal flow of world trade, which is a necessary condition to world recovery, Charles E. Martin, professor of political science at the University of Washington, declared in an address before the institute of international relations.

Such national economic shortsightedness has acted as a boomerang, and to insist that tariff policy is purely a domestic question is the height of folly, he added. The world must be liberated from shackles of tariffs and trade re-

The greatest need now is for leadership of America by fostering unobstructed trade

WORLD COURT ISSUE ADDS TO DISCORD

Emergency Employment Bills Debate Bring Out
Criticism of President

COMMITTEES ARE BUSY

Permanent Measures to Aid
In Providing Work Urged
By Senator Robt. Wagner

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—
(UP)—On motion of Minority Leader Robinson, the senate today without a single opposing vote removed from the $110,000,000 emergency employment bill a provision which would have authorized President Hoover to shift expenditure of the appropriated sums from one project to another.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(UP)—
With a troubled congressional situation disturbed anew by injection of the world court issue, President Hoover and his emergency relief program faced further attacks in the senate today.

Consideration in the upper house of the $110,000,000 emergency unemployment bill was expected to bring out a continuation of the harsh criticism of Mr. Hoover which developed yesterday. Seldom has a chief executive been subjected to such personal attacks as are being made from the senate floor.

Two important matters were being taken up by senate committees. The proposal of Senator Capper, Republican, Kansas, that 40,000,000 bushels of government-owned wheat be fed to the needy was before the agriculture committee. The interstate commerce committee was examining President Hoover's nominees to the reorganized power commission.

The house resumes consideration of the interior department appropriation bill while the house naval affairs committee continues hearings on the naval building program.

A plea for permanent unemployment measures and criticism of "bread line relief" which he said was forced by administration delay was voiced in the senate today by Senator Robert F. Wagner, Democrat, New York.

"I am not opposed to emergency proposals now pending," Wagner said, "but I plead for a better way in the future. A place on the

HOOVER DAM PLANS GO TO WASHINGTON

DENVER, Dec. 11.—(UP)—R. F.
Walter, chief engineer of the United States reclamation bureau, with offices here, will leave for Washington Friday with plans and specifications for the Hoover dam, in Boulder canyon.

The plans must be approved by the department officials at Washington, then will be printed, to be made available for contractors who wish to bid on the dam.

Walter said the bids would be opened on March 1 and that actual work on the dam would probably start April 15.

The main railroad leading to the dam will be in operation February 1 and bids for an additional 10 miles of railroad to the top of the proposed dam will be opened January 12. Bids for a highway to the top of the dam will be opened January 7.

bread line is, after all, an unkind reward for workmen."

Wagner deplored the need of New York's $6,000,000 bread line fund and characterized the administration's $110,000,000 road and public works bill as insufficient and the result of delay.

Thus he injected into the short session a demand for consideration of his three unemployment bills, now in the house.

Wagner criticized President Hoover and his leaders charged with holding up his employment program in the house.

"These bills have almost reached the end of their legislative journey," Wagner said, "but now the president, in his annual message, bids us wait."

"It is yet too soon, he says. To me this plea for delay is but an apology for previous inaction."

Wagner said permanent employment relief by the government controlling more than one-third of all construction, has been approved previously both by the president and many economic conferees.

The entire program promises to be very interesting and is an open meeting. Dr. George A. Warner, president of the P.-T. A., is bringing some very fine speakers for the various P.-T. A. meetings, and he assures us that Dr. Knopf is one of the best.

CHURCH DIGNITARIES ATTEND FUNERAL OF FATHER RICARD

Grouped around Father McCoy were 65 "priests in the sanctuary," representing every religious order of Catholicism in the state.

Banked in the right sacristy were more, black robed capuchins, brown cassocked Franciscans, members of the secular clergy from all over the state.

Near the communion rail sat the casket, a plain, cloth covered box, in obedience to the Jesuit precept of poverty.

Archbishop Hanna had overruled the Jesuit practice of forbidding flowers, and the casket was banked with floral offerings from many of the aged priest's former pupils, now men prominent in industrial and professional life.

As he had overruled the order against flowers, Archbishop Hanna abrogated the practice of carrying on a Jesuit funeral in silence. Excerpts from the Archbishop's tribute:

"A high minded, noble man, a great citizen of his adopted country, a teacher known as far as the work of the Jesuits is known, a holy priest, a faithful Jesuit, has passed to his reward."

"We who loved him on earth, gather to pay a lost tribute to his memory."

NATURALIZATION CLASS IS HOST AT BANQUET; FINAL TEST TO BE HELD FRIDAY

Twice a year, in December and in June, the Naturalization court convenes for the purpose of granting the final papers to those from other lands who seek citizenship here. In preparation for this court examination the adult education department of the city schools offers a class in citizenship training. It has been the custom for many years to close each term of this class with a banquet.

The class, this year, has had Ray Adkinson as the instructor and they held their banquet last evening at Kotner's cafe.

Mrs. Golden Weston, director of the department, presided. The personnel of the class, and their respective nationalities, was given by Mr. Adkinson in his presentation of the class to Mrs. Weston, who in turn presented them to J. A. Cranston, superintendent of schools. Mr. Cranston gave to the class a most hearty welcome.

Gifts from their native land were brought in song and verse as follows:

A. Troch, a Belgian, sang one of his native songs and George Phillips, a Scotchman, also sang.

Mrs. Jeanette Jacobs, born in Australia, gave an original poem which well expressed the feelings of all in the class.

Mrs. Ernestine Lemon, on behalf of the Native Daughters of California, and Mrs. W. H. Guthrie on behalf of the D. A. R., also welcomed the class.

Judge Ames, of the superior court, then addressed the class, stressing the privileges and responsibilities of citizenship and assuring the class of the interest and good will of the court and of the commonwealth it represents.

Similar classes have been conducted in Anaheim and Huntington Beach. Candidates from all three classes will meet in room 215 of the Junior college building, Santa Ana, this evening for examination by the federal examiner and will then go to court Friday morning for the final examination of residence and character before the presiding judge, after which they will receive their final papers granting full citizenship rights.

"Were you nervous at the idea of meeting New York reporters?" he was asked.

"I never think about the future," Einstein replied.

"Prohibition?"

"I don't drink," he answered, "so it doesn't make any difference to me."

"Adolf Hitler?"

"I am not on friendly terms with Herr Hitler. However, I think he is living on the empty stomachs of Germany. When the stomachs no longer are empty, he will fail."

"Please say what the fourth dimension is?" a reported asked.

"You'll have to ask the spiritualists about that."

"Do you think religion will help promote peace?"

"It has not done so up to now."

"Is Russia making any cultural progress?"

"I don't know. I am no prophet."

All through the interview Einstein was surrounded by his wife and the three interpreters—but there had been put there to save him, as much as possible, from contact with the outside world. Persons who had never seen him before were taken aback at the genial, friendly personality of the man. He explained he was going to Pasadena, California, "to take a direct part in the scientific life of the American universities and to be able to discuss matters pertaining to my own branch of science with my colleagues in a more immediate personal way than would be possible by correspondence."

That was virtually his only reference to the work that has made him famous. And persons, noting his friendly smile and easy personality, found it difficult to believe that this was the person, who, according to many scientists, had traveled further than any man in our time beyond the barrier where exact knowledge ends and the unlimited realm of science conjecture starts.

The steamship Beigenland will sail on Sunday for California, where Professor Einstein will spend some time at Mount Wilson observatory making observations.

He announced that before his departure he would grant newspapermen 15 minutes for an interview.

The United States "if ever it sets its hand to the job," can entirely destroy the dreadful tradition of a military violence under which Europe and the whole world continues to suffer, Prof. Albert Einstein said today in broadcasting a radio greeting to America.

Grouped around Father McCoy were 65 "priests in the sanctuary," representing every religious order of Catholicism in the state.

Banked in the right sacristy were more, black robed capuchins, brown cassocked Franciscans, members of the secular clergy from all over the state.

Near the communion rail sat the casket, a plain, cloth covered box, in obedience to the Jesuit precept of poverty.

Archbishop Hanna had overruled the Jesuit practice of forbidding flowers, and the casket was banked with floral offerings from many of the aged priest's former pupils, now men prominent in industrial and professional life.

As he had overruled the order against flowers, Archbishop Hanna abrogated the practice of carrying on a Jesuit funeral in silence. Excerpts from the Archbishop's tribute:

"A high minded, noble man, a great citizen of his adopted country, a teacher known as far as the work of the Jesuits is known, a holy priest, a faithful Jesuit, has passed to his reward."

"We who loved him on earth, gather to pay a lost tribute to his memory."

NATURALIZATION CLASS IS HOST AT BANQUET; FINAL TEST TO BE HELD FRIDAY

Twice a year, in December and in June, the Naturalization court convenes for the purpose of granting the final papers to those from other lands who seek citizenship here. In preparation for this court examination the adult education department of the city schools offers a class in citizenship training. It has been the custom for many years to close each term of this class with a banquet.

The class, this year, has had Ray Adkinson as the instructor and they held their banquet last evening at Kotner's cafe.

Mrs. Golden Weston, director of the department, presided. The personnel of the class, and their respective nationalities, was given by Mr. Adkinson in his presentation of the class to Mrs. Weston, who in turn presented them to J. A. Cranston, superintendent of schools. Mr. Cranston gave to the class a most hearty welcome.

Gifts from their native land were brought in song and verse as follows:

A. Troch, a Belgian, sang one of his native songs and George Phillips, a Scotchman, also sang.

Mrs. Jeanette Jacobs, born in Australia, gave an original poem which well expressed the feelings of all in the class.

Mrs. Ernestine Lemon, on behalf of the Native Daughters of California, and Mrs. W. H. Guthrie on behalf of the D. A. R., also welcomed the class.

Judge Ames, of the superior court, then addressed the class, stressing the privileges and responsibilities of citizenship and assuring the class of the interest and good will of the court and of the commonwealth it represents.

2 MISSING ALASKA AVIATORS RESCUED

WHITEHORSE Yukon, Dec. 11.—(UP)—A mixed feeling of joy and gloom hung over the city today—joy because Emil Kading and Bob Marten were rescued by Pilot Everett Wasson yesterday—and gloom because it was learned that Capt. E. A. J. Burke, intrepid aviator, was dead.

Kading and Marten, who had been missing with Captain Burke in the Laird river district since October 12, when their airplane was forced down in the Laird river, about 12 miles from Wolfe Lake, were found yesterday by Wasson and his companion, Joe Walsh, veteran woodsman in an improvised camp about 40 miles from the abandoned Burke plane.

A safety valve has been invented to shut off the flow of gas to a cooking stove should its pilot light be extinguished.

$125,000,000 RAIL LINE ON SALE TODAY

WILMINGTON, Ill., Dec. 11.—(UP)—The $125,000,000 Chicago and Alton railroad, like a heavily mortgaged bungalow, was offered today for sale at auction. Anybody with the necessary cash—probably $80,000,000 or $90,000,000—was eligible as a purchaser. Railroad men predicted that the line, with its fine trains and 1106 miles of track, would be "knocked down" to the Baltimore and Ohio railway.

The B. & O. which already owns a controlling interest, was expected to make the highest bid in order to extend its system from Chicago to St. Louis and Kansas City.

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

The fact is that most people have failed to build up much spiritual reserve, and when a great strain comes they have nothing to fall back upon.
If you have felt tragically weak during the last few days of your great sorrow, determine from now on to give more time and attention to spiritual matters, so that you may have the energy requisite for your heavy responsibilities and also be able to inspire and help others.
You have no doubt of God's capacity to sustain you; the problem is how to avail yourself of what He bestows. Draw close to Him that He may guide you.

Local Briefs

At last night's session of the Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World War of Orange County, it was brought to the attention of local members that certain petitions are being circulated locally, relative to payment of the Veterans Adjusted Compensation certificates in the very near future. The Orange County D. A. V. organization is utterly opposed to any such petition and warns veterans against signing such a document.

The condition of James E. Alexander, assistant postmaster of Santa Ana, who suffered a stroke of paralysis at his home yesterday morning was reported as satisfactory today. HECKER LOSES PATENT SUIT TO DUPONT CO.

Upholding the patent rights of the E. I. DuPont de Nemours company, incorporated, to the sole use of the word "Duco" in connection with spray painting of automobiles, Judge G. K. Scovel yesterday signed an opinion granting a restraining order as sought by the DuPont company against Adolph E. Hecker. The order of the court restrains the defendant who operates an auto painting shop in Santa Ana, from the use of the word "Duco" in advertising or in the use of DuPont paints and lacquers unless the same advertisement states that the paint or lacquer so advertised is brush paint or lacquer made by the E. I. DuPont de Nemours company. The use of spraying Duco, it is said, is limited to authorized agents of the company.

The suit was instituted in the county courts last spring, when a temporary restraining order was denied by the court. The trial of the action occurred last October, during which Attorney S. M. Davis, who represented the Du Pont concern showed that Hecker was advertising the use of Duco with newspaper, telephone directory and sign board advertising which he contended, the defendant has no right to do.

It was brought out during the course of the suit that the plaintiff company had spent during 1929 the sum of $610,000 in advertising Duco throughout the nation and had expended a total of over $3,000,000 in advertising all its manufactured products.

MACHINE RECORDS ANAHEIM SPEECHES

ANAHEIM, Dec. 11.—The weekly meeting of the Toastmasters club was one of unusual interest and of novelty. Through arrangement of the president, George Hedstrom, a home recording machine was introduced at the dinner meeting and speeches of those on the program were recorded. The idea served to bring home more closely to the speakers their weak points if any and also afforded its share of amusement in that a blunder was recorded automatically and the speaker, conscious of the fact, was obliged to allow what had been said. The talks were criticized after they had been heard from the record.

Speakers and their subjects on the program were Dr. Max Henderson, who spoke on "Building a Tooth"; Ted Payne on "Everybody's Job"; Dick Elliott in his maiden speech spoke on "Big Business." Wilbert Bonney's subject was "Ships of the American Desert." Bill Payne talked on "Business Depression." Visitors were P. H. Krick and Walter Kohlenberger.

Calvin Coolidge Says:

BY CALVIN COOLIDGE
Former President of the United States
NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Nothing has occurred for some time so completely demonstrating the weakened moral position which the present regime in Russia holds in the public estimation of the world as the recent treason trial in that distressed country. The significant point of the whole transaction is the almost universal expression that no one knows what to believe about it. To such an extent has confidence in the good faith of the Soviet officials been weakened. Whether such suspicion of them is justified or not, it is apparent that it exists.

Human relationships that are of any value rest on faith and confidence. When those disappear, the whole fabric of governmental, social and business intercourse disappears with them. At times the Russians are no doubt right in feeling that they are misrepresented but in the treason trial such is not the case. The impression is of their own making. Whatever may be the effect at home it has revealed and aggravated the distrust abroad. In spite of the desire of humanity because of past friendships or present relations to help the Russian people, this spectacle has increased the feeling of bewildered hopelessness in nearly every quarter of the world.

45 POSITIONS ARE FILLED BY CITY'S BUREAU

Making a grand total of 45 positions filled by the city's free employment office at 113 North Main street, 20 applicants were sent to work this morning from the office. Mrs. Bell Spangler, registering applicants and allocating jobs, was kept exceedingly busy as she tried to meet the calls during the morning, but she was successful in everything but getting jobs enough. People are beginning to learn the telephone number, 1024.

The city entered upon the publicity campaign today by sending out men with printed announcements to be distributed all over town, explaining the efforts that are being made to find employment and urging the co-operation of the citizens.

Today's jobs included two positions at the county hospital, seven jobs with the city of Santa Ana, and calls from Miss Elsie Magoon, O. B. Garmon, W. B. Caruthers, G. K. Scovel, Mrs. Bailey, W. B. Gibson, Mrs. Ella Bishop, Don's Grocery, McFadden Market, and Bell and Fisher company, and from one or two others who requested that their names be not published.

To all of those who are helping to give work, the city trustees and the applicants for work extend thanks, with the hope that a great number of other citizens will follow the example and phone 1024 with the cheering message, "Send me someone to do some work."

Lease On Hotel Sought By Firm

Seeking possession of the hotel lease in the building occupied by the Motor Transit company as its terminal, suit was filed today against Lillian McCaffrey, et al, by the Motor Transit company, on a complaint in unlawful detainer. It is alleged that he lease was signed in March, 1928, for a 10 year period at a rental of from $350 to $500 per month over the 10 year period, and that the defendants are in arrears in rental totaling $3355.78. Judgment for this amount, for treble damages and possession of the lease is sought.

22 ATTRACTED TO SOCIAL OF ANAHEIM CLUB

ANAHEIM, Dec. 11.—One of the brilliant social affairs of the Christmas season among club circles was enjoyed last night by members of the Toastee club and their husbands, who were honored guests of the evening.

Beginning with a dinner at the Lighted Palm inn 22 Toastees and their husbands were seated at a long table elaborately appointed with evergreen, holly and poinsettias, intermingled with red tapers, while an open fire added cheer to the occasion. A committee composed of Mrs. Cyril Hannah, Mrs. Clinton Allen and Mrs. M. D. Faltner was responsible for the decorations and for games later in the evening. Mrs. J. E. Rymer presided at the dinner program which included an address of welcome given in poetry by the president, Mrs. Leo J. Frills, and a response by Cyril Hannah. Mrs. Harold Gustin told how Christmas is celebrated in Norway and Sweden and D. F. Lehmer in an impromptu talk entertained the group with recollections of Christmas in childhood, "Jingle Bells" and other appropriate songs were sung.

Immediately after the dinner the guests were invited to the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Rymer, where they were welcomed into the spacious livingroom lighted with numerous tapers and candelabra. Holly, mistletoe and poinsettias were placed advantageously about the rooms and the decorated Christmas tree was not overlooked. A most informal and jolly evening was spent in playing cards, for which prizes were awarded to Mrs. Cloyes Evans, first for women and D. F. Lehmer scored high for men. Second prizes were taken by Cloyes Evans and Mrs. Warren Hodges.

FARM ADVISOR TELLS OF TRIP TO RUSSIA

ANAHEIM, Dec. 11. — About 140 members of the Anaheim Farm center were present for the 6:30 o'clock dinner meeting held at the Anaheim union high school Tuesday night, presided over by the president, L. P. Halderman.

Following a short business session, an interesting address was heard from H. E. Wahlberg, county farm advisor, who spoke on his recent trip to Europe and particularly Russia. He told of the activities being carried on in Russia in agriculture and the building of industrial works. Slides were shown of scenes taken on the trip which showed some of the activities. The speaker pointed out that although his methods might not approve of their methods in all things, they could not help but be impressed with the great strides Russia has made.

As a special feature of the evening's entertainment, Don P. Cram, tenor, sang "Giannini Mia" from the Firefly, "One Alone" from the Desert Song and an encore number. He was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. O. Lee Shoemaker.

Court Notes

Reports of inventory and appraisal in connection with a number of estates have been filed by Tax Appraiser John N. Anderson with the office of County Clerk J. M. Backs. They were as follows: Hermine Dursort, $4,932.97; Cora E. Hoag, $9747.57; Eugenie Callaud, $5108.38; Addie D. Staplin, $2100; S. H. Conrow, $1000; and Benjamin Sherwood Haywood, $8171.97.

Petition for letters of administration in connection with the estate of W. H. Swoap has been filed with County Clerk J. M. Backs by Jennie N. Swoap, of Brea. The estate is valued at $2000. It is stated in the petition.

Judge G. K. Scovel returned judgment for the plaintiff Tuesday at conclusion of the trial of the suit filed against Jessie J. Barr and others by William C. Mitchell. Judgment was for $4,155.63 on a note and mortgage.

Judgment of $13,500 for land owned by M. Nisson which was condemned by the city of Santa Ana in connection with the opening of Santa Ana boulevard, was returned yesterday by Judge H. G. Ames after hearing evidence in the matter. Judgment was also entered by the court for defendant Potts, owner of parcel No. 16, in the amount of $900.

A distributive share of other estates valued at $15,000 is set up as the value of the estate of Edgar B. Camp, who died in 1924, in a petition for letters of administration, which was filed with County Clerk J. M. Backs yesterday by Gilman Camp.

Valentine Estrada, DeHill resident, charged with failure to send his son to school, was sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail, in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court yesterday. Estrada said he expected to leave Santa Ana and therefore had taken the boy out of school. He failed to explain, however, why his two daughters were still attending school here. He then stated the boy had no clothes or shoes to wear.

Editor Register: Wouldn't it be a good plan to chloroform all of us old guys and put us out of our misery and help reduce unemployment? I am 43 years old and have been a meat cutter for many years. I thought I was pretty good at it. But when I apply for a job, they say "you're too old," and then they send out and get some young fellow that can spoil more meat than his wages are worth, and give him the job.

age to pay $10 to $12 every Saturday at the Grand Central Market for my groceries for the family, but I can't pay cash much longer unless I get work, and I can't get work if the meat markets are going to keep on importing young chaps from Long Beach or Los Angeles to do the work that I can do better than they can.

If we old fellows past 40 are no good and only in the way, the city might at least provide us with the poison to take ourselves off. But it seems to me that a man's experience might be worth something even after he is 40 years old. I don't know. It all looks funny to me. I was never 43 years old before.

Yours truly,

CLASS ENTERTAINMENT

TWO PRISONERS AND RUM TAKEN BY OFFICERS

Two prisoners and 28 gallons of asserted Scotch whiskey were taken by Officers Snodgrass and Dungan, members of the county fruit patrol, near Cypress Tuesday night.

The prisoners, Thorp Holtman, 22, and Gerald G. Holmes, 19, both of 522½ East Broadway, Los Angeles, pleaded not guilty to possession of liquor and their preliminary examination was set in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court for December 16 at 9 a. m. They were held in jail when they failed to make bail of $500 each.

The men were arrested when they stopped on the road to repair deficient lights on their automobile, it was reported. The members of the fruit patrol, patrolling their beats through the orange groves, spotted the car and found the liquor when they stopped to make an investigation.

Bench Warrant Is Issued For Seal Beach Man

A bench warrant was today issued for A. H. Sylvester, of Seal Beach, when he failed to appear in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court to answer to a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

Sylvester was arrested several days ago by Ben Craig, state traffic officer, after his automobile is asserted to have struck a man on the Coast highway. He was booked at the county jail and then released on bail of $500. His bail was ordered forfeited by Justice Morrison.

WILL ROGERS IS ASKED TO LEGION DANCE

Will Rogers, of Beverly Hills, famous writer, humorist and motion picture actor, has been invited to be present with his wife at the second annual ball of the Santa Ana American Legion drum and bugle corps at the Rendezvous ballroom in Balboa on the night of December 17. It was learned today from officials of the drum corps, Rogers has also been asked to draw the number of the ticket which will receive a gift of an Austin auto, which the Legion organization is arranging to be given to the holder of one of the tickets to the dance.

The affair promises to be one of the best dances of the year, with a large number of prominent people in attendance. The famous orchestra of the Rendezvous ballroom will furnish music for the occasion. The services of the orchestra and use of the ballroom have been donated to the drum corps by the Balboa Amusement company.

The drum corps will be present in uniform at the ball and will present some of its intricate drills and play several selections. Funds realized from the ball will be used to finance the activities of the corps, which is now running its own financing since adoption of separate constitution and by-laws several weeks ago.

INSURANCE MEN HOLD MEETING ON WEDNESDAY

A joint-dinner meeting of the Orange County General Insurance Agents association and the Orange County Life Underwriters association for the purpose of discussing very important legislative measures to be presented at Sacramento at their next session, was held last evening at the Anaheim Elks club.

The combined underwriters of Orange county had as their guest Assemblyman Ted Craig. Craig gave the association information in regard to the legislative measures that are being presented to the state legislature and assured the associations and the group in attendance his most hearty co-operation in affecting proper legislative measures for insurance agents in California. Mac O. Robbins, prominent insurance man of Santa Ana, presented to the group a thorough discussion of our present legislation and proposed future legislation and its effect on the insurance agents of Orange county. He explained the agents' qualifications bill which will be presented to the state legislature at its next session and appealed to the legislators present for their support for raising the standards and qualifications of insurance men seeking licenses to operate in the state of California.

R. G. Cartwright, president of the Santa Ana General Insurance Agents association, talked on the benefits and the necessities for co-operation through the insurance associations.

Musical entertainment was furnished by Caesar Clafoni and Edward Burns, accompanied by Miss Ruth Armstrong.

The topic for the next meeting of the Orange County Life Underwriters association to be held January 8, was announced by President William Eugene Hays to be "Forward March in 1931," and the industries and businesses throughout Orange county which have enjoyed marked prosperity throughout the year 1930 will be stressed, also, the facts and figures indicating increased income to Orange county during the year 1931 will be quoted.

Hotel Clerk Is Held In Prison

Dale R. Pickering, 25, clerk, of the Bristol apartments on West Fourth street, was arrested at home last night by Santa Ana city officers and is being held in jail in connection with an automobile accident near Garden Grove last night, according to a sheriff's office report.

No complaint against the man has been issued by the district attorney's office, but Pickering is booked for failure to stop and render aid after the accident. He had been drinking, according to Dr. R. A. Cushman, who examined him soon after his arrest. No one was reported injured in the accident.

W.C.T.U. TOLD OF CHINA CONDITIONS

PROTESTS AGAINST SUBWAY ON EAST FOURTH STREET TO BE MADE TO CITY COUNCIL

Protests against the construction of an underpass for traffic at the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific tracks on East Fourth street are now being circulated and a large number of signatures are expected to be ready for presentation to the city council at the time set for the hearing on the matter on December 22, it was learned today.

The project was originally backed by the office of the city engineer. Values of improvements are not taken into consideration in working out the payment of the bond issue, it is stated.

"SNAIX" ORDER ELECTS HEADS FOR NEW YEAR

Bert Deck, of Villa Park, was unanimously elected Gu Gu Grandissimo of Paranaque Lair No. 17, Military Order of the Serpent, more commonly known as the "Snaix," at the regular meeting of the Lair, Tuesday evening at the K. C. Hall, in the presence of the Supreme Gu Gu Grandissimo Clifford R. Judd, of Los Angeles, Past Grand Gu Gu Jake Sonnenberg and Grand Datto Frank R. Rowe and the following other officers were chosen for the year 1931: Datto, Joel Turner, of Pomona; Slick and Silny Keepers of the Ophidian; Frank P. Rowe and Albert Hall, of Santa Ana; Walter Harris, of Pomona, and Orlo Stanbro, of Anaheim.

The installation ceremonies are to take place, in Santa Ana, on the 12th of January, 1931, and C. R. Judd, the Supreme Gu Gu will be asked to install the newly elected officers.

For the benefit of those who do not understand the meaning of the Snaix and their weird titles, it might be well to state that the M. O. S. is the Shrine degrees of the United Spanish War Veterans and Paranaque Lair is composed of members of the Camps at Santa Ana and Pomona jointly. The titles of the officers and names of various portions of their rite are taken from the language of the Philippine Tagals and parts of the ritualistic work is conducted in Tagalog.

Thirty members and visitors from Los Angeles, Bell, Santa Monica, Savtelle and Riverside were present and partook of the refreshments prepared at the close of the meeting.

Comrades of the camp, who do not belong, miss lots of fun that tends to prevent them from growing and feeling old and are solicited to join.

A tiny electrical appliance is now on the market as an automatic manufacturing set. Various attachments fit on a small flexible shaft operated by a tiny battery.

DIRECTORS FOR BREAKFASTERS CHOSEN TODAY

Nine directors to handle affairs of the Breakfast club for the ensuing year were selected at the regular meeting of that organization in Ketter's cafe this morning. Officers of the club will be chosen at an organization meeting of the new directors later this month.

Montonna, Barney Koster, Dr. E. L. Kilbourne, Ed Cochems, R. G. Cartwright, Bruce Switzer, Sam Jernigan, H. B. Van Horn, Earl Morrow, C. F. Skirvin, Dave Wettlin and Eugene Kahen.

From this number the club elected, in the order of the number of votes received: Owings, Jernigan, Switzer, McKinney, Kilbourne, Morrow, Wettlin, Kahen and Cochems. During the absence of President B. Z. McKinney today, Vice President Parke Roper presided at the meeting.

Entertainment today was furnished by Dr. C. O. Patterson, of Anaheim, who sang "Roadways" and played "Waters of the Minnetonka" on a musical saw. He was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Ted Woods. Robert Speed, regaled the club members with a number of anecdotes concerning various members of the organization.

Plans are being made for a large crowd at the Christmas party, which will be held next Thursday morning when members are to bring their wives and friends. The club voted today to set the time up for this meeting to 7:15.

Complimentary to the Rev. Harry Evan Owings, the club decided to attend church services at his church on the Sunday preceding Christmas.

NEWS OF THE SCHOOLS

Frances Willard

Posture Contest

Willard representatives were very successful in the recent city posture contest, the girls winning six out of eight places and the boys winning four out of eight places. The three events of the contest consisted of half-grade against half-grade, group against group, and the final contest for city champion.

In the half-grade against half-grade Willard won four places. Jeannette Brown, high 5th grader; Marian Riley, low 5; Betty Lee, high 4 and Melvina Moore, high 7, were the winners in this event. In the group against group the Willard group took first place. In the final and most anticipated event, Marian Riley, low 5, won the city championship for girls. Marian was the happy recipient of a beautiful kodak donated by Stein's Book store. Miss Dorothy Broadway is girls' physical education director.

The boys were equally successful. In the half-grade against half-grade, Paul Hales, high 5; Carl Eaton, and George Summers won the event. Willard boys' group and Lathrop boys' group tied in the group against group contest. Paul Hales won the city chamampionship for boys. Arnold Lund is boys' physical education director.

Mothers-Daughters Banquet

The Mothers and Daughters' annual banquet will be held next Friday evening in the Methodist church banquet room. This annual gathering promises to be one of the finest get-togethers in the school calendar, under the auspices of the Every Girl's club, of which Mrs. Edith Thatcher, vice principal and girls' advisor, is sponsor. Many committees have been diligently working out plans for the banquet and the ticket committee has already sold a large number of tickets.

A splendid dinner and program will feature the evening's entertainment. The program will be announced by Barbara Dunton, president of the Every Girl's club. A committee of mothers is also working on an interesting and surprise program. Those who attended last year declared the Mothers' and Daughters' banquet the "most fun" of the entire year. If you have not already bought your tickets, see Mrs. Thatcher or members of the ticket committee immediately. No Willard girl and her mother should miss this occasion.

Honor Roll Increases
Records based on scholarship accomplishments from September

15 to November 14 placed many new names on the Willard honor roll. These students have made at least 250 points and are now in line for membership in the Honor society which holds the same point record. Two consecutive terms with scholastic records of 250 points makes a student eligible for membership in the society.

The present new honor roll includes the following: Seventh grade members—Agnes McDougall, Jean Munro, Hazel Schwarm, Edwin Toney, Hazel Ragsdale, Lorraine Sender, Jenieve Bradley, Maribeth Townsley, Naomi Dennie, Billy Nowotny, LaVene Parks, Leonard Maurer, Roy Curmott, Billy Flood and Jack Millman.

Eighth grade members—Gordon Lockett, Katharine McDermott, Alsa Thompson, Bill Twist, Ruth Wasson.

Ninth grade members—Iola Rice, Mary Paxton, Jane McBurney, Mary Agnes O'Connell and Laura Dahlquist.

The present enrollment of Willard Honor society includes: William Curmott, John Ramirez, Elizabeth Sturtevant, Evelyn Brannan, Beatrice Granas, Grace Jenkins, Idelle Johnston, Roberta Tutill, Louise Sexton, Gertrude Vaughn, Mary Wallace, Elizabeth Garlock, Carolyn Zink, Elinor Morilla, Mary Jane Zink, Elinor Morilla, Asa Hoffman, Helena Bailey, Gertrude Griffith, Charlotte Mock, Janet Raitt, Philip Smith, Frances Was, Nancy White, Edna Huntton, Arthur Salisbury, Barbara Davis, Florence Liggett, Rosemary Moats, Margaret Munroe, Herman Saffier, Jack Wallace, Norval Witt.

Many worth while privileges are extended to members of the society and it is the desire of all students, especially those on the Honor roll, to make the society as soon as possible. Meetings, under the direction of Mrs. Edith Thatcher, are held every two weeks for the purpose of discussing plans of the organization. Elizabeth Sturtevant is the president this semester.

No changes will be made in the enrollments of both Honor society and Honor roll until the semester grades in February.

Girls' Glee Club

The Willard Girls' Glee clubs have been appearing in public lately with a splendid selection of songs. The various audiences have congratulated the girls highly on their fine voices and in every instance they have had a hearty invitation to appear again. Miss Esther Jean Davis is director of music and she is largely responsible for the success of the work the girls have done. Some of the recent places where the girls have entertained are the Christian church, the Rebekah lodge, the Elks club, and they are preparing a good program for the Mothers' and Daughters' banquet to be held December 12.

The girls taking part are: Audrey Benjamin, Etta Cole, Lillian Eaton, Edna Huntton, Mildred Pierson, Jean Phillips, Lola Pride, Geraldine Westlake, Anna Southland, Marian Stroup, Louella Anderson, Agnes Brady, Jeanette Brown, Thelma Bush, Dorothy Cullison, Alice Cummings, Helen Cummings, Ruth Cummings, Helen Fine, Katherine Goodrich, Bonnie Hamilton, Helen Klingworth, Pauline Morgan, Georgia Irvin, Jean Smith, Dorothy Randall, Mary Jane Zink, Louise Sexton, Mildred Kemper and June Holman.

Miss Elizabeth Lehnardt has been accompanying the girls.

Finger Print Expert

Herman Zabel, finger print expert of Orange county, talked to the low ninth grade classes last week about the police organization of this county.

He told about many interesting phases of his work as a detective and finger print expert and also some of his specific cases. He told pupils that the requirement for this kind of work usually consisted of a special civil service examination.

His talk was indeed both interesting and fascinating and everyone enjoyed it. Miss Veda Ball and Miss Ruth Mueller are the social science teachers of these classes.

Spelling Tests

Interesting results of a ninth grade spelling test given to the ninth grades of the two junior high schools, by Miss Wherry, show that Willard and Lathrop students are up to average in their spelling rates. Some classes test above average points. This information is very gratifying to the teachers as well as to the students, because spelling often presents more or less of a problem. Since many mistakes are due to carelessness, if these students who test so high can be made to realize the value of careful spelling in daily usage, the problems of correct spelling will be solved.

Book Reports

English classes at Lathrop are interested in book reports at present. Attractive book covers illustrating the stories read, and with brief reviews written inside the cover, are lining the walls of several English rooms. Books of biography, travel and historical interest are written in such attractive ways now, that students are not finding it such a task to include these books in their outside reading lists.

Cooking Classes

Girls of the 8th grade cooking classes are making plum puddings and fruit cakes and candies for the Christmas holidays.

A new group of boys has entered the Lathrop boys' cooking classes. These boys call themselves the "Butter Cream Boys", and are the following: Horace Birdsall, Nitta Hitoshi, Dolphus Chodovich, Lewis Clem, Gilbert Dennis, John Harbour, Hunter Dennis, Oscar Hopkins, Frank Hertzberg, James Horton, Roy Huntzinger, Richard Matthews, Charles Messerve, Norman Van Zant, Billie Wood, Harry Durbin.

The boys' cooking classes at Lathrop are becoming quite numerous. There are three regular classes and one club, all under the supervision of Mrs. Sinke.

Wins Special Prize

Marie Tichenal of the low seventh received a book week prize from the Lathrop branch library. The prize, "Little Women" by Louisa Mae Alcott, was offered by the librarian to the student who should bring in the most signed cards for new library patrons. Marie brought in 15 signed cards.

Art Class Plans

Art classes at Lathrop are very busy with preparations for Christmas work. Christmas cards, book plates, covered match boxes and other interesting gifts are being made by the students. The results of the regular class work are most gratifying. Miss Wylie's classes have made colorful wall hangings, black prints, table scarfs and design lettering. One of the most interesting pieces of work done by these students are monotypes which resemble etchings to some extent. This process involves work with oil paints, turpentine and a steel plate. The designs are made by the students.

Club Giving

The I. X. L. and E. G. C. clubs have started their Christmas "giving" program at Lathrop. Mrs. Webber, who has charge of this work is anxious that the contributions this year be especially generous, since there are so many families who need help. Barrels, covered with red paper, are placed in the rotunda and Pimples Spread Over Face, Neck and Body. Cuticura Healed.

"The trouble began with pimples breaking out on my forehead, and spreading over my face, neck and body. They were small and red and scaled over. The pimples itched and burned and caused much pain. I suffered with them about a year."

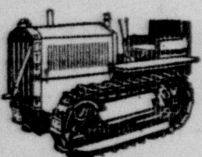

"I tried other remedies but got no relief. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and could see that they were helping me. I continued the treatment and after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and five boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." TO BE ABLE to grab the lead and to hold it indefinitely against all opponents in a world-wide contest, an athlete, a horse, or a machine MUST BE MORE THAN GOOD! That's why the position which the "CATERPILLAR" Tractor occupies today is the strongest reason why YOU should do all your work with "CATERPILLAR" Tractors.

CATERPILLAR TRACTORS

"CATERPILLAR" Tractors are always in the lead. They lead in endurance. That was proved conclusively last summer when a "Caterpillar" Ten owned by the Oregon State College was operated continuously under normal farm loads for 481 hours—shattering the world's record for nonstop tractor runs (which had previously been held also by a "Caterpillar").

"Caterpillars" lead in many other ways that mean a great deal to any farmer. They lead in comfortable riding, in ease of handling, in elimination of slippage, in prevention of soil packing, in freedom from trouble and in economy of operation. In the speed in which you can get your work done and the quickness with which you can start cultivating right after irrigating, your ownership of a "Caterpillar" makes you a leader, too.

When it comes to getting more than your money's worth—when it comes to bedrock prices and sheer value for the price you pay—the "Caterpillar" is in a class by itself. (Just glance to the left at the list of prices, delivered here, and you'll soon convince yourself of that).

Let us show you how you can finance a "Caterpillar" Tractor on your place, WITHOUT ANY FINANCE CHARGES.

Assembly Program

Lathrop's first assembly was held Friday, December 5 in the Four Square church. Lacking an auditorium, Lathrop students have been unable to have student body meetings. This assembly, under the direction of Mrs. Wolff and Mr. Baker, consisted of the following numbers:

Lathrop School song, led by Miss Cornell; introduction of student body officers by Holmes Chancellor, president; talk by M. Nelson; reading, Alta Gredet, Evelyn and Nathalie M. tol; song, Velma Browne; piano solo, Bernard Fields; flag salute by Boy Scouts leading.

School Convention

On Friday, November 21, several Lathrop students attended the Southern California school convention at Redondo Beach.

After the registration of guests, there was a concert in the auditorium, and an address given by W. B. Clausen, manager of the Associated Press. Prizes and awards were presented to the various school papers by Miss Elizabeth Hawkins of U. S. C. Luncheon was served and the students were taken on a tour of the school after which a general business meeting took place in the auditorium. At that meeting Mr. Owen of the Los Angeles Express talked to the students.

Book Review

Several interesting Book week programs were given in the various home room classes at the end of that week. Miss Nora Reid's class of low 9s gave a ried program, consisting of the following numbers: Moving pictures of popular books, using members of the class for characters; reading, by Nadene Johnson; contest, naming books, depicting and author. This was a by Vivian Maynard. Puzzle one of titles, entire class; character, using titles of books or an incident from the book.

Original Play

To celebrate Book Week Mrs. Wolff's low 7 class in library gave a very clever original play by Nelle Harvey. The play is intended to show how long it took to make a book, during the dark ages, and also how valuable books were. Among the acting parts were: Maack Warnke, the old book maker, Geraldine Gilbert, and Dorothy Dixon, the two daughters, who begged the pale, emaciated father to desist from his long labor. Refusing to be discouraged, the old book maker continued for two long years, when at last the book was finished and presented to the king, Winifred Gallene, and to the queen, Virginia Pritchard. Servants to their majesties were Lillian Allan, and Don Kennedy. The play was given first in Mrs. Wolff's library class, then repeated in the home room, and at other periods.

Spurgeon School

A number of committees were appointed Tuesday afternoon when members of the Spurgeon school club met at the school with Mrs. Charles Nau, president, in charge. Mrs. Ray Brown was appointed as ways and finance chairman. Members of the committee to plan benefit bridge affairs are Mrs. W. F. Graves, Mrs. B. O. Rice, Mrs. Carl Vorce and Mrs. A. E. Ellery.

The tea committee includes Mrs. J. K. Givens, Mrs. Terbert Thwait, Mrs. H. E. Wahlberg, and Mrs. Elmer Heldt. Members of the radio group are Mrs. J. C. Morrison, Mrs. Elmer Heldt, Mrs. P. R. Menzie, Mrs. Mary Wolf and Miss Olive Wagner.

Mrs. Herbert Miller was in charge of the program and the first talk was on "Modern Education" by Mrs. Ray Adkinson. Mrs. A. E. Ellery read a paper on the "Child's Home" and Mrs. Crawford discussed "Parental Discipline." Miss Osborne read an article on "Honesty" The next meeting will be held January 13.

Is Mother of Eight

"The first year after I got married I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I was so weak that the minute I would start to do something I would feel badly. It did me a lot of good. Since then I have taken the Vegetable Compound off and on whenever I needed it. I am now the mother of eight children and I still recommend this medicine for it makes me feel younger and stronger."—Mrs. Oreade Godfrey, 103 Cumberland Street, Woonsocket, Rhode Island.

PUBLIC COURSE MATCH PLAY TO BEGIN DEC. 27

Plans for a wide open mid-winter handicap golf tournament were announced today by the Willowick Golf club, Santa Ana's pay-as-you-play grass course on West Fifth street.

Qualifying rounds will be conducted from Saturday, December 27 through January 4.

Match pairings will be announced immediately thereafter and tournament play will begin the following week end.

Scores of Orange county golfers, whether or not affiliated with club or organization, are expected to take part in the play for which attractive prizes will be offered winners.

Handicaps will be based on new 18-hole scores so all players have been requested to file several representative score cards within the next few weeks.

Willowick officials also announced plans for a blind bogey tournament Sunday, December 21. A Christmas turkey will be the stake in this competition.

Patronage at the public course, which now boasts 12 holes, has been satisfactory during the winter months and has proven that there is a place here for a pay-as-you-play layout open to unaffiliated divot diggers.

Former Sprint Champion Weds Tonight

PASADENA, Dec. 11.—Charles Paddock, once the world's champion sprinter, and Mrs. Neva Prisk Malaby, daughter of Charles H. Prisk, publisher of the Pasadena Star-News, will be married tonight at the Pasadena Presbyterian church with Dr. Robert Freeman officiating.

Paddock, a graduate of the University of Southern California, is studying a law course there and conducting a sports column in the Star-News. He is 30. Mrs. Malaby is 26.

DON FLOORMEN BEGIN SEASON WITH VICTORY

Getting off to an auspicious start in the 1930-31 basketball season, the Santa Ana junior college Dons opened their winter campaign with a 35 to 23 victory over the Little Quinets of Anaheim in Andrews gymnasium here last night.

Coach Bill Foote used nearly every candidate on the jaycee squad at some time during the game. Scoring was rather slow in the first half, although the Dons led at the intermission, 14 to 6. Both teams began hitting the buckets with greater frequency in the final can-

INVITE PUBLIC TO HEAR COACH ADDRESS TEAM

Tom Lieb, virtual coach at Notre Dame last year and now the "head man" at Loyola in Los Angeles, will be the principal speaker at the Santa Ana high school football banquet tomorrow night.

Open to the general public, the dinner will be held in the cafeteria at Julia C. Lathrop junior high school on South Main street beginning at 7 o'clock. Tickets, selling at 75 cents each, may be procured at Victor Walker's sporting goods store, 219 West Fourth street.

Lieb was in charge of the undefeated Notre Dame eleven in almost every game the Irish Ramblers played in 1929. Coach Knute Rockne being seriously ill and confined at home most of the season.

At the end of the campaign, Lieb, then chief assistant to the South Bend wizard, was sought as head coach by half a dozen colleges, including two Big Ten institutions, but Loyola led the spirited bidding. It is Lieb's ambition to make Loyola the Notre Dame of the west and those familiar with the big fellow's dynamic personality believe he will accomplish his purpose if given time.

Lieb is expected to discuss past and present Notre Dame football history. He also is counted on to give his opinion of Pacific coast football as he has seen it this year, his first away from Notre Dame. Lieb is known as a highly interesting after-dinner speaker.

Four boys' service clubs are sponsoring the banquet for which elaborate preparations have been made.

WILDCATS WIN JULIA LATHROP CHAMPIONSHIP

Coach Ray Hamilton's Wildcats are proud possessors of the coveted Julia C. Lathrop junior high school intermural football championship after yesterday's successful defeat of Coach Ray Short's Trojans, 12-0, in the hardest fought pigskin battle on Lathrop field this year.

The Wildcat scoring machine was set to work early in the first period when a long pass from McCullum to Schill was completed and Schill raced away to a touchdown. They failed on an attempt to convert. In the second period the two teams were virtually on equal terms, neither eleven being able to work the oval into scoring position.

Coming back strong in the second half, however, the Trojans almost upset the Wildcats' air castles by working the ball down within three inches of the Hamilton men's goal. However, they were doomed to disappointment because the Wildcat line held superbly for four downs.

After getting possession of the pigskin the Wildcats once more started a drive down the field, led by their stellar fullback, Robinson, who made possible the score brought in later by Schill.

Incidentally, Robinson is only a seventh-grader weighing 150 pounds and one of the best prospects Coach Ferris Scott has in sight for future varsity eleven. He is, in the mind of Scott, a future Jim Musick, who also received his early football training at the South Main street institution.

Robinson and Calvin Breeding were the bright lights of the Wildcats' backfield, while E. White, Tomlinson and R. White starred in the Trojan backfield. Russ Abbey, playing center for the Trojans, was the best all-around lineman on the field. Starnes snappy snappy football for the Wildcats at end.

The lineups:

COACH ROCKNE, EXHAUSTED, TO REST IN CLINIC

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 11.—(INS)—Knute Rockne was back home today, a tired man. The famous football mentor has come to the end of the championship trail with the Notre Dame eleven as game as they come but well "burned out."

Rockne admitted today that he will become a patient at Mayo brothers clinic at Rochester, Minn., next week where he hopes to recuperate from the strenuous football season which brought his eleven the national title.

He has two official assignments to perform before going to the Mayo clinic. He will be a principal speaker tonight at the annual banquet of the Notre Dame St. Joseph Valley club to the varsity squad. Tomorrow he will leave for New York with the Notre Dame All-Stars, the featured members of which will be the "Four Horsemen" backfield of 1924. Then he will call it quits, he said:

"I am tired," Rockne said on his arrival here. "I have to rest up for a long time or I will be in the same position I was this time last year. My legs are beginning to feel the strain of the long season and if I do not do something in the way of recuperation soon something serious is likely to happen."

Rockne has refused to listen to the advice of close friends who cautioned him to forget the charity game Sunday in New York when his all-star team meets Benny Friedman's New York Giants.

The football genius has been informed by New York's mayor, Jimmy Walker, that his presence with the team will help the benefit ticket sale. So he insists on going.

He has turned down scores of offers to speak, to link up with one enterprise or another or to write, to go in vaudeville. One theatrical organization is reported to have offered the Notre Dame coach a salary of $7500 per week for four weeks if he will sign a contract, but he has turned it down.

San Clemente Basket Men Organize

SAN CLEMENTE, Dec. 11.—Basketball players of San Clemente will again place a team in the Orange County Basketball League. Oscar Hammerstein will act as manager as he did last season. The manager announces that the first game for the Spanish Village five will be played with Laguna Beach at Tustin December 13.

The following men will comprise the squad of Spanish Village players: Hammerstein, "Brownie" Brown, Floyd McWhorter, Bob Callis, Paul Clearwater, Babe Brissomend, Roland Peterson, Dick Minassian, Luke, Ish and others.

BALL USED BY ARMY, NAVY TO BE AUCTIONED

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—With dispatches from West Point and Annapolis giving every indication that Saturday's Army-Navy game will be another one of those traditional bitterly-fought battles royal, interest in the coming classic is increasing by leaps and bounds, and the game is now expected to be a brilliant success both as a sports attraction and for unemployment relief.

Navy, after hogging down in a mediocre early season, suddenly flashed great power against Penn, and the best sports opinion is that the Midshipmen will be at their peak when they line up for the kickoff against the Cadets. On paper Army still has an edge over its ancient rival, due largely to the West Pointers' dogged stand against Notre Dame, but the naval menace from Annapolis seems suddenly to have found itself, and Army will need more than statistics of past performances to keep the future admirals from crashing through to victory.

Ticket sales have already passed the $600,000 mark, and with only 17,000 of the original 80,000 postcards remaining unsold, the citizens' committee of the Salvation Army is optimistic that the final receipts will overtop the original million dollar quota. Tickets are being sold from the steps of the sub treasury in Wall street, like Liberty bonds in war days, in a final drive to have a capacity crowd.

In an effort to bring the ticket sale to a close today, an elaborate drive has been arranged. Army and Navy units, including several troops of cavalry and a 90-piece band, will parade up and down Broadway tonight. After the parade, 45 army trucks, each outfitted as a ticket booth, will be stationed at prominent corners. Soldiers will sell tickets over the dashboard.

There is a probability that the Navy football squad, which arrives from Annapolis early in the evening, will aid in the sales from the trucks.

The autographed football, which will be auctioned off between halves to the highest bidder, has been insured for $50,000, and is under 24-hour surveillance of Pinkerton detectives. The ball, which will be used for only one play—the opening kick-off—bears the signatures of President Hoover, secretaries of war and navy, and the football teams and coaches of both West Point and Annapolis. Several bids already have been received on this unique pigskin, including one for $100 from Bud Fisher.

Broadcasting of the game will have a decided attraction in the person of the South Bend wizard, Knute Rockne, who has promised to assist in the description of the game over the Columbia Broad-casting system by giving a critical resume of the play between halves.

LA BARBA'S DEFEAT STUNS FISTIC FANS

CLEVELAND, Dec. 11.—Eddie Shea, rugged little Chicago 126-pounder, scored an unexpected victory over Fidel La Barba, former flyweight champion and victor over Kid Chocolate, in a 10-round encounter here last night.

Appearing as the main attraction on the Cleveland News' annual Christmas fund boxing show, Shea and La Barba proved a disappointment to the 11,000 fans who paid $35,000 with the expectation of seeing the Californian hand Shea a lacing.

In a far more interesting bout, Jackie Fields, Los Angeles, defeated Paul Pirrone, Cleveland.

GEORGE HAILED AS NEW WORLD MAT CHAMPION

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 11.—(INS)—The heavyweight wrestling crown today rested on the head of Don George, former University of Michigan athlete, as the result of his victory over Gus Sonnenberg here last night.

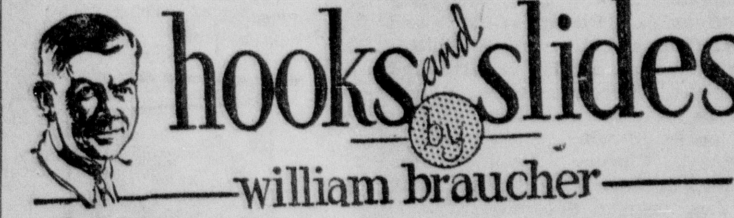

George won two out of three falls from the titlholder after Sonnenberg suffered a badly wrenched shoulder early in the second fall. George was in superb condition. He was able to withstand the vicious flying tackles of the ex-champion and then come back to win the match.

With his left arm out of commission, Sonnenberg made a valiant battle to withstand the assaults of George, but succumbed for the third and deciding fall in 12 minutes and 52 seconds when George clamped on a Japanese arm lock.

The new champion represented the United States in the last Olympic games at Amsterdam. He garnered the heavyweight crown in his 49th professional match.

COPS TAKE WRESTLING

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 11.—Columbus policemen have established a miniature gymnasium at the central police station and will be instructed in wrestling by two patrolmen. Fifteen policemen turned out for the first class. It was planned to have wrestling matches three times a week.

FORE, MR. YOST!

Fielding H. Yost has gone in for golf in a big way. The former Michigan coach first played in 1921, one game. The other game he played this year. Figuring on the basis of two hours for 18 holes, and remembering that Mr. Yost's football teams in the old days were known as the "point-a-minute" boys, I wonder if Mr. Yost's golf score isn't somewhere around 120?

THE YOUNGER ROCKNE

On the trip to the coast, Frank Carideo had charge of young Jack Rockne, son of the Bald Dome of South Bend. It seems that young Jack has some of his dad's ready wit. When he asked him where he was going to sleep on the Pullman, he pointed to an upper with the remark, "Up there in the press box, I guess."

BETTING ON THE GAME

There wasn't a great deal of betting on the Notre Dame-Southern California game, we are told. Perhaps the reason is the same as that which has cut down the wagering at prize fights recently. After the Canzoneri-Singer, Petrolle-McLarin affairs, the boys really don't

Battalino 50-50 Choice With Keed

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Kid Chocolate of Cuba, despite his sensational record, is likely to have little, if any, advantage in the betting odds when he climbs through the ropes at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night for his 15-round title bout with Battalino, featherweight champion.

Two months ago Chocolate would have been an overwhelming favorite to defeat Battalino, but the Cuban's losses to Jack (Kid) Berg and Fidel La Barba cost him much prestige.

TELLS ADVANCE MADE IN RADIO REPRODUCTION

"Until this year, broadcasting has not aided true appreciation of music," said Lloyd A. Gowdy, of J. C. Horton Furniture company, local Brunswick radio distributor.

"Reproduction of music in the home via the radio receiver of the past decade bore little or no resemblance to the concert hall original," he said.

"True, perhaps, the melody was there, but as heard after being sent through the old carbon type microphone and telephone land lines and distorted by limited range circuits abetted by horn and magnetic cone type speakers, it was practically a caricature of the original; a black and white photograph taken with a poorly focused camera, losing not only color but its lines and movement as well.

"Not only did the radio receiver of yesterday fail to build up an understanding of fine music, but it had a far more reaching effect, for it broke down true tone appreciation to such an extent that an owner of a receiver of perhaps the 1927 vintage has to have his ear re-educated before he is able to truly hear the full range of the reproduction brought to him by a radio receiver of today, such as the Brunswick. The man about to buy a 1930 receiver feels much the same as a man attending the concert of an orchestra that he has been hearing broadcast for several years. He feels as though an augmented group of musicians has been rung in on him. The kettle drums become echoes, the bull fiddles, rasps, and French horns, diabolical blasts, all calculated to destroy the ear that has become adapted to hearing blurs and hisses instead of true low and high notes.

"Musicians all over the world are hailing the new 1930 Brunswick radio receivers, not in the form of 'paid endorsements' but by word of mouth. Through Brunswick, they feel they can bring to the great masses real appreciation of fine music. The appreciation which is necessary before music lovers can be developed in any country."

A PROTEST AGAINST THE FOURTH STREET UNDERPASS

Property owners along Fourth street, Santa Ana, are circulating a protest against the proposed underpass at the Railroad tracks on Fourth street. It was originally proposed that the railroad companies would pay one-half of the cost of the project. Present plans call for the Railroad Companies to pay only one tenth of the cost.

The burden on property in Zone "A" will be excessive. The third year the tax rate will be $1.64 per $100.00 assessed valuation on land facing Fourth street. A business lot assessed at $10,000 the third year will pay a tax of $164.00.

Find out what your taxes are going to be. Call the City Engineer's office.

Protests are being circulated by: Wm. Bennett, 1604 East 4th St.; D. Jones, 702 Grand Avenue; Clarence Safely, 1541 East 4th St.

The protest can also be signed at 206 Builders Exchange Building, Santa Ana.

PHILCO DEALER AIDS DRIVE TO SPEED RELIEF

The nation-wide drive for funds to relieve unemployment will be carried on locally by L. M. Turner, Philco dealer, 221 West Fourth street, it was announced today.

Mr. Turner will put under way a new system of fund-raising, the distribution of "broadcast tickets" whereby residents of this city can contribute to the Salvation Army radio fund. These tickets, which it is hoped will bring one dollar from every contributor, will be the contribution of radio listeners for the privilege of listening in on Saturday, December 13, to the broadcast of the Army-Navy game for the relief of the unemployed.

The game will be broadcast over the entire network of the National Broadcasting company and of the Columbia Broadcasting system, with the three greatest sports announcers in the world at the microphone — Graham McNamee, Ted Husing and Bill Munday. Philco is sponsoring the broadcast and has paid the largest sum ever given for a radio broadcast for the privilege. This sum has been donated to the Salvation Army fund. Fifteen thousand radio merchants throughout the country are distributing these Army-Navy "broadcast tickets" by means of which the Salvation Army hopes to collect hundreds of thousands of dollars for the relief of the jobless.

Tickets will be distributed by Turner to every one anxious to help the cause. Those who receive the tickets are requested to make out a check or money order for one dollar, or more if desired, to the order of the "Salvation Army Radio fund" and either turn the contribution over to Turner, who will forward it to the Salvation Army, or send it direct themselves to the Salvation Army radio fund, care of Philco, Philadelphia, Pa. Contributors are requested not to send in cash.

THE SCARAB MURDER CASE

A PHILO VANCE STORY
By S. S. VAN DINE

"You're making a mountain out of this affair, Vance," he asserted aggressively. "A number of simple explanations suggested themselves. The most plausible one seems to be that Doctor Bliss, when he came down-stairs this morning, picked up his tennis shoes to have them handy in his study, and in his nervousness—or merely accidentally—dropped one, or even failed to pick both of them up, and did not discover the fact until he was here—"

"And then," continued Vance, with a japing grin, "he took off one slipper and put on the tennis shoe, murdered Kyle, re-exchanged it for his temporarily discarded slipper, and tucked the tennis shoe in the waste-basket."

"It's possible," Vance sighed audibly. "Possible—yes. I suppose that almost anything is possible in this illogical world. But really, Markham, I can't subscribe enthusiastically to your touchin' theory of the doctor's having picked up one shoe instead of two and not having known the difference. He's much too orderly and methodical—too conscious of details."

"Let us assume then," Markham persisted, "that the doctor actually wore one tennis shoe and one bedroom slipper when he came to the study this morning. Scarlett told us his feet troubled him a great deal."

"If that hypothesis is correct," countered Vance, "how did the other bedroom slipper get down-stairs? He would hardly have put it in his pocket and carried it along."

"Brush perhaps..." Heath had been following the discussion closely, and now he went into action.

"We can check that point pronto, Mr. Vance," he said; and going briskly to the hall door, he called down the stairs to the butler.

But no help came from Brush. He declared that neither he nor any member of the household had been near the study after Bliss had gone there at eight o'clock, with the one exception of the time when he carried the doctor's breakfast to him. When asked what shoes the doctor was wearing, Brush answered that he had taken no notice.

When the butler had gone Vance shrugged his shoulders.

"Let's not fume and whine over ourselves over the mysteriously separated pair of tennis shoes. My primary reason for luring you to the study was to inspect the remains of the doctor's breakfast."

Markham gave a perceptible start, and his eyes narrowed. "Good Heavens! You don't believe...? I'll confess I thought of it, too. But then came all that other evidence..."

"Thought of what, sir?" Heath was frankly exasperated, and his tone was irritable.

"Both Mr. Markham and I," explained Vance soothingly, "noticed the dazed condition of Doctor Bliss when he appeared this morning in answer to my continued pounding on the door."

"He'd been asleep. Didn't he tell us so?"

"Quite. And that's why I'm so dashed interested in his maternal coffee."

Vance walked to the end of the desk upon which rested a small silver tray containing a rack of toast and a cup and saucer. The toast had not been touched, but the cup was practically empty. Only the congealed brown dregs of what had evidently been coffee remained in the bottom. Vance leant over and looked into the cup. Then he lifted it to his nose.

"There's a slightly acrid odor here," he remarked. He touched the tip of his finger to the inside of the cup and placed it on his tongue.

"Yes! Just what I thought," he nodded, setting the cup down. "Opium. And it's powdered opium—the kind commonly used in Egypt. The other forms and derivatives of opium—such as laudanum, morphine, heroin, thebain and codein—are not easily obtainable there."

Heath had come forward and stood peering belligerently into the cup.

"Well, suppose there was opium in the coffee," he rumbled. "What does that mean?"

"Ah, who knows?" Vance was lighting a cigarette, his eyes in space. "It might, of course, account for the doctor's long siesta this morning and for his confused condition when he answered my knock. Also, it might indicate that some one narcotized his coffee for a purpose. The fact is, Sergeant, the opium in the doctor's coffee might mean various things. At the present moment I'm expressing no opinion. I'm merely calling Mr. Markham's attention to the drug. I'll say this, however: as soon as I saw the doctor this morning and observed the way he acted, I guessed that there would be evidences of an opiate in the study. And, being fairly familiar with conditions in Egypt, I surmised that the opiate would prove to be powdered opium—opii pulvis. Opium makes one very thirsty; that is why I wasn't in the least astonished when the doctor asked for a drink of water." He looked at Markham. "Does this discovery of the opium affect the doctor's legal status?"

"It's certainly a strong point in his favor," Markham returned after several moments.

That he was deeply perplexed was only too apparent. But he was loath to forgo his belief in Bliss's guilt; and when he spoke again it was obvious that he was arguing desperately against Vance's new discovery.

"I realize that the presence of the opium will have to be explained away before a conviction can be assured. But, on the other hand, we don't know how much opium he took. Nor do we know when he took it. He may have drunk the coffee after the murder—we have only his word that he drank it at nine o'clock. No, it certainly does not affect the fundamental issue—though it does raise a very grave question. But the evidence against him is too strong to be counterbalanced by this one point in his favor. Surely, you must see, Vance, that the mere presence of opium in that cup is not conclusive evidence that Bliss was asleep from nine o'clock until you knocked on the study door."

"The perfect Public Prosecutor," sighed Vance. "But a shrewd defense lawyer could sow many fecked seeds of doubt in the jurors' so-called minds—eh, what?"

"True." The admission came after a moment's thought. "But we can't overlook the fact that Bliss was practically the only person who had the opportunity to kill Kyle. Every one else was out of the house, with the exception of Hani; and Hani impresses me as a harmless fanatic who believes in the supernatural power of his Egyptian deities. So far as we know, Bliss was the only person who was actually on hand when Kyle was murdered."

Vance studied Markham for several seconds. Then he said: "Suppose it had not been necessary for the murderer to have been anywhere near the museum when Kyle was killed with the statue of Sakhmet."

Markham took his cigar slowly from his mouth.

"What do you mean? How could that statue have been wielded by an absent person? It strikes me you're talking nonsense."

"Perhaps I am," Vance was troubled and serious. "And yet, Markham, I found something on top of that end cabinet which makes me think that maybe the murder was planned with diabolical cleverness. As I told you, I want to make an experiment. Then, when I have made it, your course of action must rest entirely on your own convictions.... There's something both terrible and subtle about this crime. All its outward appearance are misleading—deliberately so."

"How long will this experiment take?" Markham was patently impressed by Vance's tone.

"Only a few minutes...."

Heath had taken a sheet of newspaper from the basket and was carefully wrapping up the cup.

"This goes to our chemist," he explained sullenly. "I'm not doubting you, Mr. Vance, but I want an expert analysis."

"You're quite right, Sergeant." Vance's eye at that moment caught sight of a small bronze tray on the desk, containing several yellow pencils and a fountain pen. Leaning over casually, he picked up the pencils, glanced at them, and put them back on the tray.

Markham noted the action, as did I, but he refrained from asking any question.

"The experiment will have to be made in the museum," Vance said; "and I'll need a couple of sofa pillows for it."

He walked to the divan and tucked two large pillows under his arm. Then he went to the steel door and held it open.

Markham and Heath and I passed down the spiral stairs; and Vance followed us.

CHAPTER IX

Vance Makes An Experiment (Friday, July 13; 2:15 p. m.)

Vance went direct to the end cabinet before which Kyle's body had been found, and dropped the two sofa pillows on the floor. Then he looked again speculatively at the upper edge of the cabinet.

"I wonder..." he murmured. "Dash it all! I'm almost afraid to carry on. If I should be wrong, this entire case would come toppling about my head..."

"Come, come!" Markham was growing impatient. "Soliloquies have gone out of date, Vance. If you have anything to show me, let's get it over with."

"Right you are."

Vance stepped to the ash-tray and resolutely crushed out his cigarette. Returning to the cabinet he beckoned to Markham and Heath.

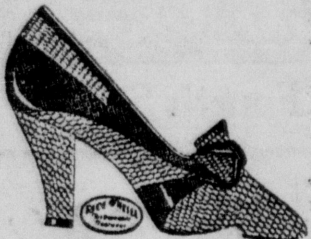

"By way of praludium," he began, "I want to call your attention to this curtain. You will observe that the brass ring at the end has been slipped off of the rod and is now hanging down."

"You will also observe," Vance continued, "that the curtain of this cabinet is only half drawn. It's as if some one had started to draw the curtain and, for some reason, had stopped. When I saw the partly-drawn curtain this morning it struck me as a bit peculiar, for obviously the curtain should have been entirely closed or else entirely open. We may assume that the curtain was closed when Kyle arrived here—we have Hani's word for it that he had pulled shut the curtain of this particular cabinet because of the disorder of its contents; and Doctor Bliss mentioned to Kyle on the telephone that the new treasures were in the end cabinet—the cabinet with the drawn curtain.... Now, in order to open the curtain, one has only to make a single motion of the arm—that is to say, one has only to take hold of the left-hand edge of it and pull it to the right; the brass rings would slide easily over the metal pole.... But what do we find? We find the curtain only half drawn! Kyle unquestionably would not have opened the curtain half-way to inspect the contents of the cabinet. Therefore, I concluded that something must have halted the curtain at the half-way point, and that Kyle died before he could draw the curtain entirely open.... I say, Markham; are you with me?"

"Go on," Markham had become interested. Heath, too, was watching Vance with close attention.

Christmas Post Office Receipts Normal For Ten Days

JOBLESS GIVEN WORK HANDLING HOLIDAY MAILS

With Christmas receipts at the post office up to normal for the first 10 days of December, the usual "mail early" call was issued by the postmaster this morning.

"In addition to the usual reasons for mailing early," said Terry Stephenson, the postmaster, "we have the reason that nearly all of the Christmas rush business this year is being handled by inexperienced help. The post office department had ordered, and rightly so, that preference in the selection of help be given to the unemployed. We have selected our help and necessarily have had to place on the list a great number who have done no work of any kind in a post office. Post offices all over the country have similar situations, and therefore should be given the co-operation of the public. The best co-operation possible is to get parcels and greeting cards into the local office as early as possible."

"Hundreds of parcels were mailed yesterday to eastern points, and hundreds more than were mailed yesterday were going into the mails here today."

Incidentally Stephenson pointed out that those expecting to have fragile articles insured must have the articles packed with ample cushioning of excelsior, crumpled paper or some other material that will prevent breakage. Ordinarily, fragile articles to be insured must be in corrugated pasteboard or wooden boxes. Stephenson said that ordinary pasteboard boxes split open easily and are not strong enough to stand mail handling. Responsibility for good packing rests upon the mailer.

Accuse Man Of Theft of Labor

He is charged with theft of labor and with failure to pay a discharged employee. The crimes were alleged to have been committed on October 25. The complaining witness is Harry R. Erskine, of 2730 West Fifth street, Santa Ana.

THE END OF A JOY RIDE

If you think those old movie stunts in which comedians drove cars through brick walls were impossible, take a look at this. The car that made this hole in the wall of one of the buildings at the El Corral motor station, Third and Birch streets, went on a joy ride without a driver, and it was in reverse. It was left in gear with the ignition on, while being serviced in the El Corral yard, and inadvertently someone put his hand on the starter. The machine lunged away and soon gained a rapid speed, with Phil Lalonde, owner, 906 North Flower, in hot pursuit. Lalonde clambered aboard but he was too late to stop the joy riding car. The brick wall did that, after taking some severe punishment. Paul Witmer, owner of the station, is shown at the left. "Rosy" Merrill, in charge of the grease rack, is in the center. He had just moved a car off the rack and stepped out of the way when the wild car charged by. Joe Cornelius, ball player, is at the right.

SMEDLEY WILL PRESIDE AT INTERNATIONAL CLUB MEET

Toastmasters, International, the recently organized federation of the Toastmasters clubs connected with the Y. M. C. A., will assemble a notable gathering at San Diego on Saturday, when the International council meets for an important business session, followed by an elaborate dinner meeting at the Young Men's Christian association in the evening, with a program of speeches and entertainment.

The Santa Ana Toastmasters club has an exceptional interest in the event, as it is the original of all the Toastmasters clubs which are now organized throughout Southern California and in various other parts of the world. R. C. Smedley, general secretary of the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A., was the organizer of the movement, and is recognized as the father of all the Toastmasters clubs. He is to serve as toastmaster for the Saturday evening dinner, which will be attended by more than 100 men and women, and which will enjoy a program presented by some of the best speakers from the various clubs interested.

Among the clubs which will have representatives at this meeting are Los Angeles, Pasadena, Anaheim, Santa Ana, Pomona, Ontario, Long Beach and Glendale.

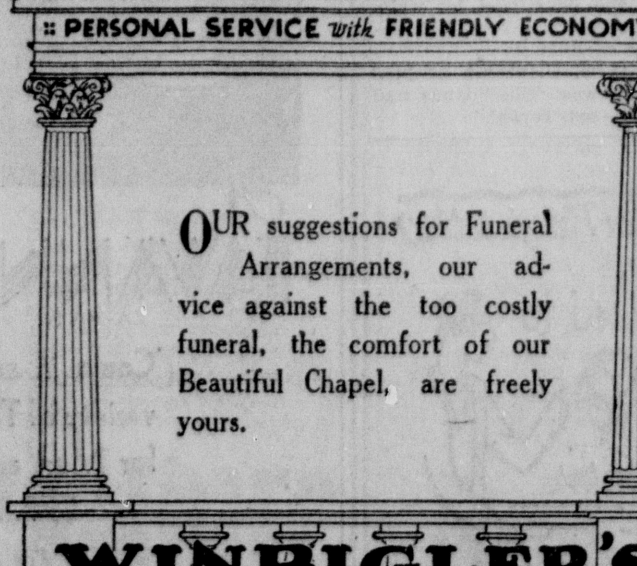

The first issue of the inter-club bulletin of the clubs appeared this week, under the caption "The Gavel," being put out as a news disseminator by a committee consisting of C. F. Marshall, of Pasadena; R. C. Smedley, of Santa Ana, and Franklin Howatt, of Anaheim. This bulletin is to be a monthly publication, carrying the news of the clubs and their work to all members. The rapid spread of the organization among the Young Men's Christian Association indicates that it will soon have branches in several foreign countries as well as in a number of states in America.

SPECIALIST IN LEPROSY VISIT FRIENDS HERE

Renewing a close friendship formed back in 1913 when they were graduated from medical school at Loma Linda, Dr. Theron S. Johnston of 1801 Bush street, and Dr. Ernest Birkenstock, of British South Africa, shared many enthralling reminiscences during the few days that Dr. and Mrs. Birkenstock and their three children were entertained in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Johnston.

At the same time, Mrs. Johnston and Mrs. Birkenstock enjoyed reminiscing on their own account, for they, like their physician husbands, had many school memories in common, as they had graduated from the Loma Linda school for nurses in the same year.

Dr. and Mrs. Birkenstock had left for South Africa a year after his graduation, and those privileged to meet him on his limited visit in the city, found his accounts of native life as thrillingly interesting as any pictures of the natives and showed these for the entertainment of a little group of friends invited by Dr. and Mrs. Johnston to spend one evening of his visit. Physicians among the guests were especially eager to hear of his work in the control of leprosy in and near his station in Africa, where the disease is one of the chief things which resident doctors must face.

The sodium ester of chaulmoogra oil has been used with marked success by Dr. Birkenstock, who found it practically a specific in such cases, and frequently his patients, after one or two years' treatment, were dismissed as actual cures.

He and Mrs. Birkenstock and their family have spent some time in Europe where the former did some special work in Vienna and also in Edinburgh. In coming back to Southern California, it was with the possibility of locating some place in the Southland and

POSTCARD MAILED IN 1911 IS RECEIVED IN S. A. TODAY

Since time immemorial—or at least since the general use of the Morse telegraph system in 1844—messenger boys have been the butt of jokesmiths, ranking only second to plumb-ers in the slowness of their motions. But Uncle Sam and his emissaries, the postmen, have been just as consistently held up for public approval because of their swiftness. But today a strange little happening came to light in Santa Ana, indicating that sometimes positions are reversed, and occasionally Uncle Sam himself nods, even as Jove.

For a picture post card mailed in Los Angeles on Oct. 14, 1911, has just been delivered to the person to whom it was addressed, having required 18 years and two months to complete the journey from the Angel city to its addressee, Miss Mayme Havens, 407 West Sixth street. It was in October, 1911, that Miss Minnie Pearson, of Santa Ana, (who is now Mrs. J. Wiley Harris, 609 South Garnsey street) went into Los Angeles for a two weeks' visit with an aunt residing there.

While there she mailed several of the souvenir postcards so popular at that time, among others, choosing one of the Los Angeles city hall to send to Miss Havens, who was then establishing a home and practice here. Although they have concluded their visit with the family of the Santa Ana physician and gone to Los Angeles for a short visit, they expect to return for a more extended visit with Dr. and Mrs. Johnston in the near future, before definitely deciding upon a location.

Famous singers always travel in style. McCormack has several attendants, including an Italian chef, and always has a tank of special drinking water with him. Chappin travels with an interpreter, two secretaries, and his own "wine cellar."

30 CANDIDATES INITIATED BY D. A. V. GROUP

Last evening the largest gathering of disabled veterans ever assembled in Orange county met at the Santa Ana Legion hall. This was the regular business meeting of the Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, the last business session scheduled for this year.

The headliner of the evening was the initiation of some 30 recruits who were given the obligation by the crack drill team of Quentin Roosevelt chapter of Los Angeles. This team consisting of William Conley, C. L. Edney, Carl Sunderland, H. E. Pinney and V. P. Mooney jr., put on the ceremony in a fitting manner and stressed the requirements and fundamentals of this honor organization. After the ceremony the new comrades were greeted cordially by the local commander, H. O. Rasmussen, who expressed the hope that wherever possible the new members would assume the responsibility of any committee or

Charming Hostess Trio Entertained For Young Matron

A charming trio of young hostesses, Miss Virginia Berry, Miss Anne Tarver and Miss Alice Major, joined in extending courtesies to the young matron, Miss Linscott (Barbara Westcott) last evening when they entertained at the Rose Arbor Inn. The honoree was showered with an array of lovely miscellaneous gifts.

Bridge was the game of the evening, and with its conclusion Mrs. Rolla Hayes Jr. was awarded with an attractive serving tray for scoring high and Miss Phyllis Pope was consoled with a deck of modernistic playing cards. The two-course supper was served at flower-decked tables carrying out a pastel motif. Slender tapers and clever nut cups added to the pretty effect.

Those sharing the hospitality of the three hostesses, Miss Berry, Miss Tarver and Miss Major, other than the honoree, Mrs. Linscott, were the Misses Lucy Holmes, Marie Carothers, Beth Westcott, Jean Rowland, Betty Rowland, Janet Peacock, Carol House, Doris Goff, Phyllis Pope, Juanita James, Rowena Moore and Mesdames Fred Gregory, Francis Selway, Roy Kidder, Kenneth Conner, Rolla Hayes Jr., Lee McClelland, John Cloyes and Herbert Hill.

Kenneth Stowes Were Sup and Chatter Club Hosts

Sup and Chatter club members were present at a delightful dinner party Tuesday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stowes were hosts in their home at 916 West First street. Colorful flowers were used as decorations.

In the bridge games of the evening Mrs. Roy Gowdy and John Turton scored high and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Achey, low.

Those sharing Mr. and Mrs. Stowes' hospitality were Messrs. and Mesdames Carl Wieseemann, Roy Gowdy, Arthur Achey, John Turton and two guests, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ehlens of Orange.

Christmas Bride-Elect Honored at Dinner In Harwood Home

Miss Floye Allen's approaching Christmas day wedding to W. S. Phelps of Oakland was incentive for a charming dinner Tuesday evening with Dr. and Mrs. D. A. Harwood as hosts in their lovely home at 2467 Riverside drive.

Appointments were exquisitely carried out in white and silver, a color combination evidenced in the tapers and candleholders centering the table. Tiny nut cups were miniature candelabra, and vied in interest with the gleaming wedding bells of the decorations. Garlands of ferns and clematis formed a perfect setting for the small bride and bridegroom who completed the artistic scene. The delectable cakes and ices of the dessert course were moulded as wedding bells.

Poinsettias and other brilliant blooms decorated the rooms where the bride games took place. Miss Marie Foldes and Miss Ruth Crowley won first and second prizes, and the honoree was presented with a special gift on behalf of her hosts.

Those sharing Dr. and Mrs. Harwood's hospitality were the Misses Ruth Crowley, Marie Foldes, Vada Freeburt, and Mesdames Cecil Allen, Orville Northrup, Harvey Spears, Darrell Nicholson and the honoree, Miss Allen, who has been the surgical nurse in Dr. Harwood's office for the past six years.

Sewing Club Held Holiday Meeting In Orange Home

The holiday motif was charmingly expressed Tuesday evening when Mrs. Vern Estes entertained members of the Chat and Sew club in her home at 1334 East Chapman avenue in Orange. Mrs. Louise Beam assisted as co-hostesses. Red tapers and clusters of holly added to the Christmas effect provided by a prettily decorated tree.

Members enjoyed their usual session of needlework, concluded when an appetizing refreshment course was served on individual trays decked with dainty red and white doilies. A gift exchange took place with Mrs. Francis A. White of Long Beach acting as Santa Claus.

Those present, other than Mrs. Beam and Mrs. Estes were Mesdames Bessie Campbell, Harvey Ringle, Dale Griggs, James Smith, Theodore Neill, and John Vernon of this city and Wilbur Woods, Harold Bell, Oliver Wickersham, George Franzen, Dorothy Spencer, Ramee Emely, Carl Pister, John Powell, J. T. McInnis, Edwin Westcott, E. C. Prevert, Alfred Moynagh, E. C. Wood, and Miss Edna Case of Orange. Mrs. Ralph Bell of Laguna Beach, Mrs. Francis White of Long Beach and Mrs. J. R. Drilling of Lakeview, Ia.

The next meeting will be held January 6.

Phi Chi Fraternity to Offer Fancy Dress Holiday Ball

Phi Chi fraternity members and their friends will share an evening of dancing Saturday night, when the fraternity men will entertain in the ballroom club at Corona del Mar with approximately a hundred guests expected.

The function is purely invitational, and a number of Phi Chi brothers from other cities in the Southland have been included in the list of guests. To heighten the anticipated charms, the young people will don fancy dress, giving a holiday carnival aspect to the festivity.

A colored orchestra whose individual members are clever entertainers, has been engaged, and to complete their hospitality, the hosts have arranged for a buffet supper to be served at midnight.

Kenneth Harbert, president of the local chapter, is acting as chairman of the committee on arrangements, and is assisted by Messrs. Jack Patterson, Worth Babbitt, and Blythe McCausland.

Tavern Tattlers Held Valuable Session

For their regular meeting Tuesday night members of Jaycee Tavern Tattlers heard a comparison of Shakespeare's Troilus and Cressida with that found in the Homeric legend, given by Mrs. Ruth McNeil. Miss Jean Anderson reviewed the play "Ulysses" by Chapman and Miss Mary Todd Tate discussed passages from the Odyssey.

After a discussion of new members the group adjourned to the print shop to work on the Tavern Post.

Members present were Miss Mary Todd Tate, Miss Gladys Earley, Miss Jean Anderson, Miss Alice Myers, Miss Betty Maloney, Miss Miriam Samuelson, Miss Phyllis O'Connor, Mrs. Ruth McNeil, Bill Reinhardt and the advisor, Thomas Hall Glenn.

YOUTHFUL ROMANCE CROWNED BY FORMAL WEDDING RITES

Flowers in every gradation of yellow from palest ivory to deep primrose hues, last night smiled a denial to the chill of a crystal December night, when they graced the beautiful home of Dr. and Mrs. Edwin D. Kilbourne, 2435 Riverside drive, and provided appropriate setting for a lovely girl-bride. For it was the wedding date of Miss Kathryn Kilbourne, daughter of the home, and John Norton Breeden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred McNear of San Francisco, and friends had assembled from every section of California and from far more distant points, for the beauty of the nuptial rites.

Interest in the wedding was enhanced, not alone by the prominence of the two families in California circles, but by the romance between Miss Kilbourne and Mr. Breeden, of which the friends were aware. For half a dozen years ago, when the two were little more than children, they became engaged. Despite their youth, their parents offered no opposition beyond emphasizing that their marriage must be delayed until both were older. In the meantime Mr. and Mrs. McNear asked their son's young fiancée to be their guest on a year of "round-the-world" travel, during which an extended stay in Paris made it possible for her to continue her study of the violin under maestros of the French capital.

It was shortly after this that Miss Kilbourne and Mr. Breeden broke their engagement, and in the intervening several years, they have remained merely good friends until a few months ago, when, each assured of unchanged feelings, the betrothal was announced to close family friends.

Hawaiian Theme
In planning details of the wedding, the bride's childhood days in Hawaii, where Dr. Kilbourne practiced for 14 years, offered a decorative theme that was charmingly expressed in the flower leis worn by the bride's pretty attendants, her sister, Miss Janet Kilbourne as maid of honor, and the Misses June Brand of Pasadena and New York, Elizabeth Lewis of Los Angeles and Georgia Belle Walton of this city. Miss Brand and Miss Lewis were gowned in delicate corn color crepe satin, fashioned on extremely long lines and gracefully long. Their leis were of white carnations. Miss Walton's satin gown was in a deeper tone of yellow, with white lei, while Miss Kilbourne, preceding her bride-sister, wore deep sunset yellow with pale yellow lei.

Entry of the bridegroom was to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by a string quartet, two of whose members, Marcia Levings and Elva Taylor, had been closely associated with Miss Kilbourne in her musical activities.

Beautiful Setting
The ceremony found a marvelous setting in the great drawing room when an improvised altar was starred with immense white chrysanthemums and tall cathedral candles. The Rev. W. J. Hatter, rector of the Church of the Messiah, read the Episcopal service.

Mr. Breeden with his best man, Walton Hodges, of San Juan, and his ushers, Edward McNear of Burlingame, and Edwin Kilbourne Jr., awaited the entry of the bride on the arm of her father, Dr. Kilbourne.

Miss Kilbourne's delicate, cameo-like loveliness was supreme in her gown of lustrous white satin, en traine, and a veil of airy tulle confined to her coiffure with real orange blossoms. Her flowers of ivory yellow roses and orchids were in shower effect with the fairy bells of lilacs of the valley. Her sole ornament was the diamond bar pin which was Mr. Breeden's gift.

Supper following the rites, was served in a dining-room banked with blossoms, and the extremely long table where the bride party sat with a group of special guests, was laden with yellow roses. Music was a feature of the reception, especially interesting numbers being the Hawaiian melodies played by the Hawaiian orchestra, under whom the bride had studied in Hawaii. Memories of pleasant days in the islands were entwined also in the mournfully lovely airs sung by Mrs. Harry Blodgett in the Hawaiian language.

In greeting the guests for her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Kilbourne was stately and handsome in deep aquamarine flat crepe, while Mrs. McNear, mother of the bridegroom, chose filmy French gown in poudre blue chiffon and lace.

Future Plans
Mr. and Mrs. Breeden left by automobile for a Southland honeymoon, the bride traveling in a smart tulle of dark brown broadcloth. Tossing her bouquet was her farewell act, and the flowers were caught by her sister, Miss Janet Kilbourne. The young people will go north for a series of dinners being given in their honor, including a formal function at which Mrs. McNear will introduce her new daughter-in-law to friends of the Bay region. They will return here for Christmas in the Kilbourne home, leaving for New York city on December 27, where Mr. Breeden will resume his dramatic career on the New York stage, and where

Recent Bride Honored At Bridge Shower In Orange

Complimenting Mrs. George Vaughn, who prior to her recent marriage was Miss Blanche Westering, was a charming party of last evening with Miss Mabel Woods as hostess in her home in Orange. Her sister, Miss Marie Woods assisted her. Bouquets of brilliant-hued carnations and other winter flowers provided a colorful setting for the affair.

Bridge was played and when scores were added Mrs. Al Hardin was rewarded as high scorer. A tempting refreshment course was served and the interesting evening was concluded when Mrs. Vaughn was presented with a basket heaped with miscellaneous gifts.

Those present, other than the hostesses, Miss Marie and Miss Mabel Woods and the honoree, Mrs. Vaughn, were the Misses Juanita Hawthorne, Helen Westering, Hazel Johnson, Margaret Garrett, Maurine Coyle, and Mesdames Evelyn Doyle, Pauline Tyler, L. Hardin and Ralph Fuller.

W. C. T. U.

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. held Tuesday in the First Presbyterian church, was called to order by the president, Mrs. Amy Evans. At 11 a. m. Mrs. Harry Owens led the devotional service, using the book of Jonah as the scripture lesson.

At 12 o'clock a splendid pot luck luncheon was enjoyed in the church dining room, with Mrs. Anna Scott, chairman of the committee. Special guests at the luncheon were Mrs. Estelle Harper, county president, and Mrs. R. W. Jones of El Modena, each brought interesting messages. Miss Jessie Warburton sang two numbers, "Star of the East" and "Christmas Carol." Miss Warburton was accompanied on the piano by her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Warren, who recently returned from the national W. C. T. U. convention in Houston, Texas, gave highlights of the convention and told of some of the interesting trips given the delegates through the courtesy of the chamber of commerce.

Mrs. Margaret McClelland, vice president, presided over the afternoon program which was in charge of Mrs. Jean Adamson, director of child welfare. Mrs. Roy Roepke sang "Beautiful Garden of Prayer" and "Birthdays of a King." Mrs. Roepke was accompanied by Mrs. Emma Tenney-Wilson. Miss Jacobson, teacher in the high school, spoke on "Child Welfare and Hygiene," and gave a very instructive and interesting address.

Mrs. Warren gave a detailed report of the convention, continuing from the noon hour. The following are notes from the national convention: The National Women's Christian Temperance Union will hold 20 or more campaign conferences in different sections of the country in 1931. The first will be held in Washington, D. C. One will be held in Los Angeles later in the year. The Houston convention was unique from the fact that greetings were extended on welcome night by Governor Dan Moody, Governor-elect Sterling, Mayor Monteith of Houston and Commander Al Brennan of the American Legion of Texas. All of these officials are dry, and cordial greetings were extended. An announcement was made by Mrs. Boole that a message had been received from President Hoover. Every member of the convention rose to her feet as Mrs. Boole read: "My Dear Mrs. Boole: I will be obliged if you will express my cordial greetings to the 56th annual convention of the National Women's Christian Temperance Union and my profound sense of the value of their work both in behalf of higher ideals in life and public service and of law observance and law enforcement." A reply was sent by the convention to President Hoover.

The mammoth "Blue Bonnet" parade preceded the opening of the convention by more than 300 beautifully decorated automobiles and floats bearing more than a thousand members of the W. C. T. U. To distinguish the Texas women they wore blue sunbonnets of crepe paper—symbols of the Texas state flower, the "blue bonnet."

An interesting feature of the convention was the two discourses one of the Republican delegates and the other the Democrat delegates. Republican delegates, directed by Mrs. Maude Colvin, New York state president, sent a letter to Senator Fess, chairman of the Republican National committee, commending him for his efforts to maintain the dry stand taken by the latest Republican national convention and his opposition to the repeal plank in the party platform. The letter also contained a refusal to support party or candidate committed to

Birthday Surprise Took Place In Beemer Home

A memorable event for Holland Whittington was the observance of his birthday anniversary which took place Tuesday evening when Mrs. J. J. Beemer entertained with a surprise affair in her home at 1102 West Seventeenth street. A charming informality was the keynote of the evening.

Fragrant narcissus flowers were used to decorate the home, and provided a delightful setting for the hours of card playing and dancing. To conclude the pleasant affair, a late supper was served, with Mrs. Ray Walworth assisting Mrs. Beemer. Many handsome gifts were presented the honored guest.

Those sharing Mrs. Beemer's hospitality were the Misses Dorothy Ramsey, Catherine Budd, Betty Howell, Mary Mendenhall, Velda Frazier, Florence Warner, Bernice Ramsey, Jeanette Lutes, Ruth Beemer, Jane Whittington, Mrs. Raymer, Jane Whittington, Mrs. Kirkham and Walworth and Mrs. Kirkham and Messrs. Ray Walworth, Charles Warner, Ernest Smith, Ivan Scott, Melvin Maxwell and Millard Beemer.

Legion County Council Met Tuesday In Buena Park

Many Santa Ana Legion auxiliary members were called to Buena Park Tuesday to attend the December meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary County council, held in the Buena Park Congregational church, with Mrs. Myrtle Cain of this city, occupying the president's chair.

One of the principal features of the day was the interval devoted to reports of the month's activities in the various units of the county. Plans for future activities were presented as well.

The Christmas party to be given on December 21 for the veterans at San Fernando hospital, was the principal topic of the afternoon's discussion. This will be a gala day for the boys at the hospital as there will be programs and entertainment in both afternoon and evening and a Christmas tree with presents and donations of jams, jellies, candies and cakes for all. Each auxiliary in the county is requested to contribute to the entertainment and for donations.

Members of the Buena Park auxiliary served luncheon to 75 guests during the noon hour. Mrs. Anna Ruth McKenzie, Mrs. Edna Jaynes, and Mrs. Speaker were in charge of arrangements and were assisted by Miss Zoe Jackson, Mrs. Sophia Jones, Mrs. Nellie Salzman, Mrs. Mary Bodin, Mrs. Kate Thompson and Mrs. Audrey Parker.

The next meeting will be held in La Habra, January 13.

YOU and your Friends

Mr. and Mrs. P. McIntosh, 1915 North Ross street and Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Coon, 807 Orange avenue, drove to Indio, Coachella valley yesterday to be guests of old Nebraska friends, Mr. and Mrs. J. Drollinger, engaged in the date raising industry.

Mrs. Maude Tindall of Shelbyville, Ind., is a house guest this week in the home of Mrs. J. H. Mitchell, of 206 West 18th street.

Mrs. John Some of Salt Lake City, Utah, is spending ten days with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Morgan of 116 East First street.

Friends of Melvin Harter, a graduate of the local junior college and of University of Southern California will be interested to learn that he will be attending Yale university at Connecticut. He is in charge of a Y. M. C. A. club there with over 800 members.

Democratic delegates, headed by Mrs. Nellie Burger, president of Missouri W. C. T. U., voiced their resentment of the implication that a Democratic landslide would argue a wet landslide, and denied their support to wet candidates. They also demanded that the national Democratic leaders exemplify their loyalty to the constitution by writing a dry party platform and selecting dry candidates.

The W. C. T. U. slogan adopted for the year, was "Observance and enforcement—not repeal."

Dessert Bridge Club Enjoys Hospitality Of Mrs. Nisson

Mrs. Clarence Nisson entertained her bridge club at her home in Tustin yesterday afternoon. The Christmas motif was used in decorating the card tables for the dessert course which was served before bridge playing. A poinsettia was in the center of each table with a tall green paper erect in the center. Red and green nut cups and place cards suggestive of a snappy blizzard completed the decorations.

Members and guests were Mesdames Harry Westover, Robert Mize, E. W. Spruance, Clarence Nisson, Loyal K. King, L. Allen Wallace, J. L. McPadden, Cassius Paul, W. H. Wright, Jack Fisher, G. K. Scovel and W. B. Hellis.

Mrs. L. Allen Wallace was presented with the club prize, a coffee cup of uniform pattern with all other coffee cups which have been won in the seasons of the club. Mrs. Hellis received a folder of note-paper.

White Shrine Circle Entertained

Members of the White Shrine circle were pleasantly entertained Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. J. E. Vinson was hostess in her home at 1424 South Rose street, and was assisted by Mrs. W. G. Lewis as co-hostess.

The earlier part of the day was devoted to a business meeting, and members drew names for a Christmas meeting exchange. In the bridge games which followed Mrs. Elise Bohling and Miss Henrietta Bohling scored first and second high. Refreshments concluded the interesting meeting.

Those present, other than the hostesses, Mrs. Vinson and Mrs. Lewis, were Mesdames R. A. Evans, Hugh Henry, True Kimball, C. T. Cleland, Kate Sutton, Nell Biesel, Walter Wright, W. W. Hyde, E. Pasenkopp, W. O. Patterson, J. Willey, W. Edkins, D. Petty, P. N. Chapin, W. W. Berry, Elise Bohling and Miss Henrietta Bohling.

Preview Big Film Here

AT FOX BR'DWAY

A Universal preview, reported to be one of the big pictures of the year, the name of which necessarily is being kept a secret, will be shown at the Fox Broadway theater tonight, according to an announcement made today by Norman Sprowl, Fox theaters manager.

There is little the public can be told about the picture prior to its initial showing here, other than it is a big picture and that 50 seats for the stars and others in the cast have been reserved by the company making the film, and that special apparatus is being installed in the theater today to show the film.

The name of the picture has been whispered around on the streets here, but Manager Sprowl asked that the name not be used in print, in that it would embarrass local theater managers when other previews are wanted here.

The preview will be shown promptly at 9 o'clock at the conclusion of the regular show, "Sin Takes a Holiday," which has been showing here since Monday.

Constance Bennett's latest Pathé star vehicle, "Sin Takes a Holiday," which is in every respect a picture of supreme merit, won the hearty endorsement of local picture fans on its presentation at the Fox Broadway theater. The story, the scenes of which are laid in New York and Paris, is dramatic, tense and appealing. Miss Bennett, whose artistry as a player is generally recognized, indulges her flair for rich gowns to the envy of most every woman who follows her fortunes throughout this fascinating picture. The supporting players proved themselves wholly adequate, the result being a highly delightful performance. Kenneth MacKenna, leading man, Basil Rathbone, Rita La Roy, Louis Bartels, Zasu Pitts and others in the cast gave highly artistic and satisfying portrayals. The picture was splendidly mounted and the direction by Paul L. Stein was wholly adequate.

A Good Way to Keep Pie Crust

Either this is my discovery week, or my bump of curiosity is working overtime. At any rate, I have another "discovery" to tell you about today.

This discovery has to do with pie-making. I detest making pie. I would go to any length... make a fussy cake... or an elaborate pudding... rather than haul out the moulding board, rolling pin and all the rest of the pie-making paraphernalia. It's just one of "those" tasks for me.

A few days ago I was making the family's favorite apple pie when the idea occurred to me, "Why not mix an extra piecrust or enough for a single pie shell, then, instead of putting the left-over dough into the refrigerator to mummify and later be thrown out, roll out the crusts, place each one on a sheet of waxed paper, roll up and keep in the refrigerator until wanted?" And DID it work? Just like a million dollars! I used one crust last night to cover a meat pie and the other to make a pie shell which was filled with canned sliced peaches topped with whipped cream, for dessert.

In rolling up the rolled crust be sure to lap the waxed paper over the edge when the rolling starts. In this way every particle of the rolled crust is protected from air and it is more easily handled when you come to use it. The long chilling helped the crispness... of course the oven was exceedingly hot when the pastry was first put in, then reduced to finish baking. But that is one of the rules of pastry making you must know by this time.

Note—Take rolled-up pastry from refrigerator 10 minutes before it is used, so that it can soften.

milk, stirring while it softens and thickens. After five minutes' cooking, dip the egg yolks beaten with sugar and salt, into the hot tapioca and cook until the custard is very smooth and creamy.

Take from the fire and chill, then whip in the egg whites, beaten as stiff as possible. Whip the cream still, fold into the tapioca, and lastly fold in the chopped maraschino cherries, adding a few drops of almond extract if you wish to accentuate the almond flavor of the cherries. Freeze for eight hours.

In freezing desserts of this type, they should be stirred not more than three times, and that just to make them freeze evenly.

There are eight servings in this velvety delicious dessert. Of course being a dessert of this type the energy calories are very much to the fore, hence it is wise to make the portions small and to look at them with wary eye if curves are your portion.

Each portion has in it 375 calories.

'SAPS WORK' TO OPEN HERE AT BD'WAY FRIDAY

Give the public what it wants. That is the simple rule which Owen Davis has observed in achieving success as one of America's most eminent playwrights.

Davis believes that love of laughter and a craving for adventure are inherent in every normal human being—and in his plays he has consistently sought to satisfy those universal longings.

Davis' early plays were melodramas, in which the adventure element predominated. Then he turned to comedies and found the public even more responsive to the appeal of humor.

Some of his best works are melodramatic comedies in which adventure and laughter go hand in hand. One of these is the original play upon which Paramount has based its newest mystery farce, "Only Saps Work" which comes to the Fox Broadway theater tomorrow for a three-day run.

"Only Saps Work" is a story about a light-fingered crook, who, while looking after his own welfare, is just human enough to be generous and helpful to those whom he likes. Leon Errol, as the laughable crook, goes to a Health Farm to hide away from pursuing detectives after he has robbed a bank. At the same farm Richard Arlen is working as a kitchen boy to prove to his rich father that he can be self-supporting.

Mary Brian comes to the farm to take care of a sick relative, and Arlen falls in love with her. Errol, who has represented himself as a detective in search of a thief, takes a fancy to Arlen, and helps him to prevent Mary from learning that he is a mere kitchen boy. The ensuing action centers around Errol's efforts to keep out of the law's clutches and Arlen's efforts to win Mary in spite of his embarrassing position.

It all ends happily after a rib-tickling series of laughable situations in which a pair of trick detectives and the befuddled bell-boy, Stuart Erwin, take part.

'Anybody's War' to End Run Tonight

"Anybody's War," latest picture made by the Two Black Crows, Moran and Mack, closes a three-day engagement at the Walker State theater today.

In this picture the two dark-town comedians are traced from their home in Buford, Tenn., where one of them is the city pound master with more dogs than he knows what to do with, to the front line trenches in France where they become war heroes.

Full of comedy and new gags, "Anybody's War" is the type of comedy that appeals to all kinds of audiences.

100 HEAR TALK BY FOUNDER OF MISSION

LA HABRA, Dec. 11.—A vivid description of scenes in the Holy Land was given by "Brother Tom" Lightfoot, founder of the midnight mission in Los Angeles at the regular meeting of the Men's brotherhood of the Friends church Tuesday night.

It was in the panic of 1832, while a youth, that the idea of the midnight mission was born, the speaker said, for at that time he went hungry on Thanksgiving day that the rest of the family might eat their scanty fare while he kept warm by a pool room fire. The need of feeding a hungry people was impressed upon him so deeply that today he has served in excess of 7000 meals per day and 8000 meals were given Thanksgiving day.

Over one hundred persons attended the 6:30 o'clock dinner preceding the meeting.

BEACH FIREMEN DINNER GUESTS IN COSTA MESA

COSTA MESA, Dec. 11.—The Ladies Aid society of the Community church entertained members of the Newport fire department with a banquet in the social hall Tuesday evening, in appreciation of the firemen's work during the recent fire.

The tables and room were decorated with Christmas colors, red, green and white. All lights were shaded in red, with quantities of cottonseed and pepper tree ferns, miniature snow men, and Christmas trees, as place cards, the latter made by Mrs. W. W. Caruthers, assisted by members of the Friday Afternoon club art section. Favors were tiny red fire baskets, marked Newport Beach fire department, the work of Mrs. Nellie Long.

A table centerpiece, made by W. Morrison, was the center of attraction. A winter farm scene, a tiny log cabin, with Santa about to go down the chimney, snow, ice, Christmas trees and cord wood, brought back happy memories to all easterners.

Mrs. Ruth McKenzie, chair director of the church, was in charge of the program which followed the dinner.

"The Happy Chappies," Bob Fuller and Bud Baker, playing guitars; Hyatt Graham, the violin, and Harold Elmer, the harmonica, opened and closed the hour of entertainment, playing many selections.

The Rev. A. F. Hasse and the Rev. G. W. Brown gave short talks of appreciation to the guests in behalf of the church and Sunday school. Response was made by Fire Chief Frank W. Crocker, of Newport Beach, who thanked the Ladies Aid society for the dinner.

"Lullaby Moon," and "When Honey Sings the Old Time Songs," and an encore number, "Fishing," were sung by Mrs. Ruth McKenzie and Mrs. G. W. Brown, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. P. M. Thompson.

Mrs. McKenzie sang "The Greatest Thing in the World," with Mrs. Thompson accompanying at the piano.

NOTED LABORATORY FINDS WAY TO END "ATHLETE'S FOOT"

You can never be certain that you are not one of the 10 million people in America today who are victims of "Athlete's Foot" infection—an unpleasant, annoying form of ringworm.

That is because of the infection's comparative mildness when first contracted, and its several peculiar ways of showing itself. You may notice tiny, itching blisters between your toes. Or the skin may become moist and thickened. It may turn either red or white, or even develop a scaly dryness.

If you discover any one of these symptoms, don't wait for complications. Follow the advice of authorities and douse ABSORBINE JR. on your feet twice daily.

For it was proved by actual tests in a famous New York laboratory that wherever this mild, yet powerful, antiseptic penetrates, it not only cures but kills the times microphages, which causes "Athlete's Foot."

So after every exposure to wet surfaces—in public places and even in your own bathroom—play safe by using ABSORBINE JR. on your feet. For the tiny parasites breed and lurk simply everywhere, and are always ready to attack. All druggists, $1.25. W. F. Young, Inc., Springfield, Mass.—Adv.

P.-T. A. SEEKS RURAL SCHOOL DENTAL OUTFIT

GARDEN GROVE, Dec. 11.—The regular December board of managers meeting of the fourth district P.-T. A. was held in the Washington grammar school all day with Mrs. Mary B. Robertson, of Santa Ana, fourth district president, presiding at the meeting.

Reports were given by the different P.-T. A. presidents in this district. A committee consisting of Mrs. J. V. Kelsey, of Garden Grove; Mrs. Carl Sutton, of Orange; and Mrs. Newsom, of La Habra, was appointed to investigate the possibilities of securing a portable dental outfit and chair to be taken to the different rural schools in order to have dental work for children taken care of at the school. The committee is to report at the January meeting.

Mrs. Tedford, of Santa Ana, spoke on the 24-hour school for children, explaining the work being accomplished and its success.

Mrs. J. Fred Rogers, state circulation chairman of the P.-T. A. magazines, stated the desirability of having P.-T. A. members subscribe to "Child Welfare," the National Magazine and State Parent. This district should have 532 subscribers and has only 166, she said. The P.-T. A. is allowed until March 31 to get in the new subscriptions.

It was voted to give $5 for magazine subscriptions to be given to 10 worthy mothers in the district.

Mrs. J. Fred Rogers presided at a round table discussion for magazine chairman of the district in the afternoon.

Mrs. Miller, of Fullerton, district art chairman, presided at a meeting of art chairmen of the different schools. She introduced Mr. Luken, of the Fullerton Junior college, who spoke on the subject, "Art in America." He explained about metal and woodcraft. Sixty were present at the luncheon.

It was announced that the January meeting would be held at La Habra. Mrs. W. A. Price, state president, will be present and state board reports will be given. The printing of state textbooks and the "Enabling Note," which the P.-T. A. hopes to bring before the state legislature, will be discussed.

Representatives of the eight mother chorus classes of the district will be present. Miss Frances Beeson is music director of these classes which are held at Santa Ana, Westminster, La Habra, Newport, Costa Mesa, Orange, Laguna and Anaheim.

SAN CLEMENTE, Dec. 11.—Whiskers will be long and there will be no shortage of entertainment at the third annual Days of '49 party to be staged at the Social club Saturday night. For the past week men of this Spanish village have been letting their whiskers grow so that they will look like real forty-niners when they dress up for the party.

H. B. RESIDENTS HIT CLOSING OF RAIL CROSSING

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 11.—Opposition to closing the railroad crossing on Acacia street in order to cut Frankfort street through to Main has developed, with Dennis Halliey, the E. K. Wood Lumber company and the Union Oil company, property owners on Acacia street, leading the opposition according to statements made by Mr. Halliey.

Mr. Halliey said that the closing of the railway crossing on Acacia street, only recently completed, and the only first class crossing to the east side, would damage the Acacia street property. He suggested that some other route be devised which would not destroy the property values at railroad crossings already established. He pointed out that parts of the lots on the northwest corner of Frankfort and Alabama and on the southeast corner of Alabama and Acacia could be acquired, giving a slant to Frankfort street to conduct with Acacia, and in this way the Acacia street crossing over the railroad tracks would not be closed. He said this change would be less expensive than the cutting of Frankfort street through to Main street.

It was announced that the January meeting would be held at La Habra. Mrs. W. A. Price, state president, will be present and state board reports will be given. The printing of state textbooks and the "Enabling Note," which the P.-T. A. hopes to bring before the state legislature, will be discussed.

PRINTING DATA PRESENTED FOR 20-30 MEMBERS

FULLERTON, Dec. 11.—The history of the development of printing provided the subject for an address by E. B. Reynolds, president of the Fullerton Rotary club at the meeting of the Fullerton 20-30 club last night in McFarland's cafe, when he told of the improvements made in printing methods in the last 44 years.

Reynolds, who is proprietor of a printing establishment in Fullerton, told of early methods when separate type was used and when the machinery was crude. He declared that progress made in printing in the past 50 years has outdistanced any other trade. The cost of type 20 years ago was 50 cents per pound while at the present time it costs more than a dollar a pound. The speaker explained that the increase in the costs was due to higher wages paid for labor.

Entertainment at the meeting was furnished by Jimmy Kewish, who entertained with several popular piano numbers and by Wayne Goodale and Howard Hall, who played several numbers on the guitar and accordion.

Officers for the first six months of 1931 were nominated at last night's meeting. Nominations included Alex Pratt, Sam Adams and John King, president; Floyd Kiker and Alex Pratt for vice president; Arton Reinart, secretary; Wayne Goodale and Ronald Hughes, chairman; Ray Roberts and Leonard England, trail twister and Rankin Bailey, Harry Steadman, Fred Livingston, Sam Adams, Ray Roberts, Ben Kraemer and Claude Layton, trustees. Elections will be held at the meeting next Wednesday.

The matter of presenting a program over the public address system which will be installed in the business district during the shopping season by Fullerton merchants was postponed until further study had been made of the matter.

Announcement of a dance to be presented by the Anaheim club in Anaheim on December 19 and to which all Fullerton members are invited was made by members of the Anaheim group.

Alex Pratt presided at the meeting and introduced the speakers.

Farm Center Merger Approved At Villa Park Session

ORANGE COUNTY WATER SUPPLY IS DISCUSSED

VILLA PARK, Dec. 11.—Willard Smith, chairman of the county board of supervisors, and W. W. Hoy, Santa Ana engineer, were the principal speakers at the meeting of the Villa Park-Olive farm center at the Villa Park hall last night, when 100 persons were present. Both speakers explained the construction of dams to insure a better water supply for Orange county.

During the evening the matter of a consolidation of the Villa Park-Olive farm center with the El Modena farm center was brought up for discussion, the unanimous opinion of those present being that such a consolidation would be advantageous. A committee was appointed to attend the meeting of the El Modena farm center Friday at the El Modena school, when action of the proposition will be taken. The committee includes L. A. Bortz, W. W. Perry and John Allen.

R. D. Maherty, executive secretary of the Orange County Farm bureau, gave an outline of the activities of the center and a report of the county bureau was given by John Ragan, vice president of the bureau. L. A. Bortz gave a report of the annual state convention at Asilomar.

Dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock and a program of music and readings preceded the speakers' addresses.

W. W. Perry was the program chairman and presented Fenn Fields in a clever character sketch, Mr. Fields giving a talk on farm relief. G. I. Bauer and three daughters gave several selections on the steel guitar and the two young sons of H. D. Nichols gave several readings. Willard Smith gave a resume of the Santiago dam which is being built in the Santiago canyon at a cost of $700,000 by the Irvine company, the Serrano Water company and the John T. Carpenter Water company.

Smith said that 20 years had been spent in getting the dam started and that 50 per cent of the water impounded would belong to the Irvine company, and the other 50 per cent to the other two companies. He pointed out that the flood water would be divided between the three companies but that the seasonal flow would be divided between the Serrano and the Carpenter companies.

The safety of the dam was stressed by Smith, all of the five consulting engineers engaged on overseeing its construction agreeing on the safety of the structure, he said. A. Kempke, of San Francisco, is in charge of the work, it was said. Among other facts, it was brought out that the dam would have 25,000 acre feet capacity and that water would be cheaper as a part of the water now going to waste would be conserved.

The results of the spread of water in the diversion dam in the upper headwaters of the Santa Ana river and under the supervision of the Tri-County Water Conservation association was revealed by W. W. Hoy, who is one of the board of consulting engineers of the project.

As there is a definite agreement as to the amount of water which may be taken from the river by Riverside and San Bernardino counties, Orange county will be benefited by the surplus water which will be impounded by the weir. Hoy said. In 1921-22, an even rainfall was maintained during the season and 81,000 acre feet of water was spread, with 60,000 acre feet going to waste in the ocean. Had the weir been constructed at this time this water could have been saved with great advantage to this county, the engineer said.

The dam is called a floating dam. It extends across the river for a length of 475 feet with a width of 64 feet. It has a down stream crest or fall of six feet.

CITES GROWTH OF SEALS FOR ORANGE LIONS

ORANGE, Dec. 11.—Miss Helen Woodward, county nurse, explained the origin and growth of Christmas seals at the regular meeting of the Orange Lions club yesterday. It has often been asked, Miss Woodward said what proportion of the money from the sales is used locally. About 75 per cent of the money is kept here, 15 per cent goes to the state and 10 per cent to the national organization, the speaker explained. Miss Woodward was introduced by Oscar Leichtfuss, who acted as program chairman.

Seals were first sold in 1904. The first year the sales amounted to $3000 and a steady growth has been maintained until in 1929 the sum of five and one-half millions of dollars was realized from the seals, said Miss Woodward. The speaker said she believed that the steady growth of the sales was an indication of the confidence of people of the nation in the work.

"With work along health lines stressed in the past few years, the death rate of all ages has been decreased with the exception of those between the ages of 15 and 25 years, the high school age," Miss Woodward said. "Research work to determine means of reducing the death rate of these ages is now in progress and through the work of the tuberculosis association the equipment of large institutions and state universities is available in the work of the tuberculosis association is shown by the fact that at the last international convention, 32 nations were represented."

It is hard for modern youth to maintain perfect health, the county nurse said, as she outlined conditions which had prevailed 50 years ago when less complex living made health easier to keep. Miss Woodward complimented the local club as the first to recognize and support the county health camp.

The health program for the year includes work among the Mexicans, Miss Woodward said. Ivan Swanger reported that arrangements were now complete for the dinner dance of the county council of Lions clubs and that it was expected that about 85 couples would be present. Reservations have been made by 35 couples from this city, it was reported. Visiting Lions were Caesar Clanton and E. T. Rowland of Santa Ana.

LEISURE TIME, HOME STUDY P.T.A. TOPICS

ORANGE, Dec. 11.—"Wise Use of Leisure Time" and "Home Study" were the subjects taken up at the Intermediate P. T. A. meeting held at the school house yesterday at 2:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Jim Winkert presided at the business meeting. Plans were made to gather white gifts from the school pupils. A Christmas tree was erected in the hall and the white gifts were placed about the tree trunk. The attendance was over 60.

Mrs. Percy Green presided at the round table discussion on the topic presented by Mrs. Louise Bradshaw and Mrs. Cal Lester. Mrs. Bradshaw said in part: "There are five factors to be taken into consideration when talking of home study for the pupil; society, school, teacher, pupil and parent. The changed curriculum in the schools is the result of the demands made by society. The school schedule covers much more ground than a generation ago. The teacher must fit that schedule into the hours of the school room. The pupil must complete the schedule to advance from grade to grade. And lastly, the parent supplies the background for the pupil in the home with good reference books, current magazines and correct habits of living." Mrs. Cal Lester talked on "The Wise Use of Leisure Time."

Mrs. Lester said in part: "How much spare cash is good for your child? Our leisure time is our money investment in character. Outdoor sports contribute well to the wise use of leisure time in developing team work, and reading opens up a vast field of culture and refinement for the use of our leisure time."

Refreshments were served by the committee, with Mrs. Fred Lentz as chairman.

3000 PERSONS ATTRACTED TO ORANGE PLAZA

ORANGE, Dec. 11.—Three thousand persons witnessed the first lighting of the plaza last night following the decoration of the circle for the holidays. The lights will be kept burning until the close of the Christmas season.

The plaza was very beautiful and seemed a fairy circle roped with strings of jewels as the lights in the trees flashed into being at the turn of the switch at 7 o'clock. The star at the east end of the plaza, which is mounted on a great palm, is an innovation this year and is said to be visible for many miles. The star has five points and two long strings of lights are hung from its base nearly to the foot of the tree.

The official Christmas tree of the city is the star pine located at the west side of the plaza and this is strung with hundreds of lights. Christmas trees are mounted on 16-foot poles in a circle around the outer walk. The star pine is said to be the tallest decorated tree in this vicinity.

Two representatives of Santa Claus, dressed like the jolly saint, gave a musical program as they greeted children of the vicinity on the streets, which were crowded the entire evening. They played the violin and banjo. Stores were open throughout the evening and merchants were hosts to hundreds of persons from this city and the surrounding territory.

Pile Sufferers

End Your Misery Without Salves or Cutting

External treatments cannot permanently cure Piles. Nor does cutting remove the cause.

The cause is internal—bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel. The veins are flabby—the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles an internal medicine must be used to heal and strengthen the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, a specialist, after years of study discovered a real internal Pile remedy. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1000 patients, with the marvelous record of success in 960 cures, and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID from their own druggist.

Don't waste time on external remedies or think of the pain and expense of an operation until you have tried HEM-ROID. McCoy's Drug Store will supply you and guarantee money-back if it does not and all Pile misery.—Adv.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY NICK

Said Scouty, "Gee, I wouldn't miss the water on the oasis. It's just as cool as it can be. I'll drink more than my share. The rest of you can do the same and you'll be mighty glad we came. Then, when we're through with drinking, we will snooze in the open air."

"Oh, no!" the Travel Man replied. "It's better that we go inside the little shelter building. Then we'll be out of the sun. You see, the sun out here is hot. 'Twould overheat you, like as not. Please hurry up and have your drinks. Then right inside we'll run."

"They drank until they had their fill. 'Oh, will I sleep? You bet I will,' exclaimed tired little Scouty. 'I am sure it will feel grand. The Travel Man is right, I think. I know I couldn't sleep a wink if I was forced to flop down in this spread of blazing sand.'"

For 'bout an hour they all slept sound. When they woke up again they found that everything was set to go. The Travel Man called out, "Hop in the car. We're leaving here. Don't worry. There is naught to fear. We're going to cross the desert and find what it's all about."

Once more the big truck moved away. It was a very pretty day. Said Scouty, "This is really quite a funny looking land. I don't know just where we are bound, but every time I look around, I cannot see a single thing except a stretch of sand."

"Oh, I see something," Carry cried. "Some men are coming. See them ride! They're both on lazy camels. My, I'd much prefer to walk." Right soon both of the camels stopped and to the ground the riders hopped. The Travel Man walked up to them and had a friendly talk.

The Tinymites run into a sandstorm in the next story.

EVENING SALUTATION

While science has given us a world of magic and romance, the great novels reveal to us the changeless and eternal youth.
—WILLIAM LYON PHELPS.

NO LIQUOR IN THE MEXICAN EM-BASSY

It was good to hear that the new ambassador to Mexico has announced that no liquors will be served at the embassy while he is the representative of the United States in Mexico. At first, we attributed it to the conscientious man who believes that a citizen of the United States should be loyal to the laws of his country no matter what country he happens to be in. For such an attitude we have high praise. Too many Americans abroad are guilty of practices which they would not condone for a moment in their own country. It has been said that the obscene Folie de Bergere show is staged exclusively for Americans who visit Paris. Americans should feel that the honor and the good name of their country is in their keeping when they are among strangers in another land. Many of the judgments of America are based upon the conduct of some thoroughly non-representative Americans whom the people of other countries have chanced to meet.

Later we learned that the new ambassador to Mexico, Mr. J. Reuben Clark, was a Mormon in his religious views; and that accounted for his position on the liquor question. The Mormons are Puritanic with reference to intoxicants and smoking, and Ambassador Clark is simply following out the tradition of his religious faith in the matter. One of the notable facts which meets the visitor in a Mormon city like Ogden, or Salt Lake City, is the absence of cigar stores. One speaks to a group of Mormon business men, and he is surprised not to see any of them smoking. The Mormons are temperate in all their habits, and despite their reputation in the past in the matter of polygamy, they are a highly moral people. Reed Smoot of the United States Senate is an apostle of the Mormon church, and it may be recalled that he is a purist when it comes to literature of all kinds that is risqué or obscene.

There are some things that the Mormons can teach the Gentiles. We venture to say that if Utah ever goes back upon the Eighteenth amendment, it will be the Gentile, and not the Mormon, vote that will be for repeal.

WOMEN IN BUSINESS

The news dispatches have given first-place prominence to the story that a woman has been lifted to a high executive position in the Missouri, Kansas and Pacific railroad. It is said that this is the first instance of a woman given a prominent place in the management of a railroad.

Perhaps it is. But it should not be forgotten that women have been forging ahead in the business world. In almost every line of business, women are coming to the front. Social and charitable work is becoming more and more the work of women. Some of the most notable restaurants in some of our large cities are run by women. One needs to recall only such names as those of Alice Foote MacDougal in New York, and McNally and Doyle in Cleveland, as a few out of the very many to note how successful women may be in that line.

Teaching and home-making are no longer the exclusive vocations of women. In every business there are women holding key positions. It can no longer be said that women are unfitted for business. As they gain more and more in experience, it becomes evident that there is scarcely any line of business in which a woman may not match her brains and her achievements with the average man.

A recent writer in one of our magazines has called attention to the slow progress being made by women in business and political life. It is largely the result of a lingering prejudice, now rapidly disappearing, together with the uncertainty of woman's continuance in business by reason of the appeal of home and children. There is no reason, however, to question that the woman who is determined upon a business career is quite as likely to succeed as a man. We are just at the beginning, in our economic life, of recognizing the "weaker" or the "gentler" sex, as womanhood has been styled, as a very potential asset in politics and business. The future will see them in greater prominence in these departments of life hitherto monopolized by men.

SNAKES!

Someone loosed a number of snakes at the performance of "All Quiet on the Western Front" in Berlin. The news dispatch also says that the panic subsided when it was found they were of the harmless garden variety. That speaks well for the interest in the film and the good sense and equanimity of the audience.

The sensation of a snake crawling around one's seat in a darkened picture hall and approaching one's person lends itself to the imagination. If we must meet snakes we prefer them in the garden where they usually crawl away with such speed that we can't follow them with the eye. Thus showing that they are as afraid of us as we are of them.

But snakes coupled with the tension of "All Quiet on the Western Front" would really be too much. It was a mean trick for anyone to do. "All Quiet on the Western Front" was a good picture.

PROFESSOR EINSTEIN ARRIVES

What a strange phenomena human nature must have appeared to Professor Einstein as he observed it yesterday in New York harbor. It demonstrates well the sweet nature of the man that he was amused by the antics of the crowd of broadcasters and reporters who besieged him. One of the reporters asked him to explain for the lay mind his theory of relativity. The professor replied that it would take three days and he didn't have the time.

Learned folk are inclined to be disgusted as they read of the spectacle. But there is the other side of the picture. There was a crowd of people merely trying to do the job that had been assigned to them in the best manner possible. That fellow who asked for the simple explanation of relativity was not a hopeless moron at all. They were all trying to press the proper trigger to elucidate a statement from the visitor. The demonstration yesterday wasn't just a lot of foolishness. It was a demonstration of a bunch of men trying their best to get or to do what they were assigned to do or get.

Why they were sent by editors back at desks to get something from Professor Einstein is explained somewhat by what happened last year in March on his fiftieth birthday. Honors, degrees and gifts were showered upon him. Letters and cablegrams arrived for him in huge bulk. Money gifts for the charities in which he is interested arrived. There came also the gift of a bust for the tower at Potsdam, and of a forest near Jerusalem, to be planted and named in his honor and the city council of Berlin presented him with a tract of land on his favorite lake where he could indulge his hobby of boating.

The interest of people in Einstein is not to their discredit, even though they don't understand what it is all about. Scientists have pointed to Einstein as one of the great men of the ages and people can recognize and appreciate a life of devotion to learning and research even if they do not understand the details and the immediate aims and objects. Moreover, the practical value of his theories, if any, Einstein himself doesn't know and certainly there are no others who do or will for some time to come.

His latest theory produces, it has been said, "the greatest merger ever effected in human thought." People don't have to understand in order to appreciate devotion, and modesty, and superior intelligence.

A Super Team

Riverside Daily Press

The writer has been interested in college football for fifty years—as player on a "scrub" team, as umpire, as reporter and as "fan." His acquaintance with the game goes back to the days when Walter Camp was first making fame at Yale as a player and coach; and he well remembers getting a "straight arm" from Camp once that made him think the said arm was a rod of steel. In all that time he has never seen a team, in east or west, that could compare for a minute with the Notre Dame team that played Southern California Saturday.

The Notre Dame team was a marvel in speed, power and versatility of offense and in the coordination, resourcefulness and deadly accuracy of its defense. The Southern California team of 1930 is one of the best ever developed on the Pacific coast, many think the best. But that team seemed like a bunch of high school boys when pitted against Notre Dame. Knute Rockne again has demonstrated that he is the greatest football strategist the country has yet produced. Notre Dame would probably defeat Stanford about 50 to 0; and one shudders to think what the score would be if they were to play California.

These experts who are figuring out "All American" teams would save themselves a lot of trouble by just selecting Notre Dame's first string and second string for these mythical honors and letting it go at that.

Inculcate Giving In Children

Pasadena Star-News

"It is more blessed to give than to receive." Here is one of the eternal verities set down in Holy Writ. The truth of this is beyond question. One finds, in reading the daily news, that the richest men and women in the world derive their keenest delight and satisfaction from giving their riches for the welfare and uplift of their fellow-men.

But giving is not a blessing for the rich alone. The striking example of the poor widow with her mite, used by the Christ as an illustration of the spirit of unselfishness and consecration in giving, comes to mind. It is not the magnitude or value of the gift, but the spirit in which the giving is done, that counts in high heaven. "The Lord loveth a cheerful giver," whether the gift be in the millions of dollars or whether it be one dollar or less. The habit of giving unselfishly to aid the unfortunate is a gracious, generous, godly habit.

Children should be taught to give to relieve the distressed. Whether it be a penny or a potato that the boy or girl gives, the gift should be accepted and the giver should be thanked and be made to feel that the act is commendable.

One of the most pernicious of vices is selfishness and greed. Children should be trained away from this vice. During the Christmas season, a favorable time to impress upon the children the value, importance and pleasure of giving to relieve distress and to make others happy.

Supremacy

San Diego Union

Florida has uncovered a dinosaur egg, and according to reports emanating from Florida, and necessarily unbiased—it is as good a dinosaur egg as any that the noted Roy Chapman Andrews ever dug out of Mongolia. Furthermore, it is either as old or as fresh as any dinosaur egg that is likely to be discovered in any other state in the Union. A scientific and calmly impartial Florida estimate places the egg's age at anywhere from 2,000,000 to 7,000,000 years. Even out here in California, nobody is apt to find an egg older than 7,000,000 or younger than 2,000,000 years of age. And if California chambers of commerce and other scientific agencies do not like it, they will have to think up some other kind of egg.

We fear that Florida wins the 1930 dinosaur-egg-finding championship without a struggle.

More Truth Than Poetry

JUST A REG'LAR PLAYWRIGHT

In Mr. Shakespeare's stirring times,
In that sublime and classic age—
Did he read up on current crimes
And put them promptly on the stage?
From hidden local dens of sin
Did William roughly lift the lid
The plaudits of the crowd to win?
He did.

Did Shakespeare, whom of course we call
The master of dramatic art,
Make a copy of a ruffian brawl
To stir a shop-girl's tender heart?
Did he exploit low ale-house fights
To make a drama a success,
Which might last out a hundred nights?
Yes, yes!

Did he look on life's baser side
So he might win a tear or sob,
Or work up thrills that satisfied
The simple yearnings of the mob?
Was Mr. Shakespeare ever known
To swipe a play, and then forget
To say it wasn't all his own?
You bet!

Considering his worldly way
Of thinking of the pounds and pence
And seeking, when he penned a play,
How he might swell his audience,
Can we, at this enlightened date
Reverse this very human man
And still insist that he was great?
We can!

"Excuse It, Please"

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

In a pamphlet just published under the title, "How to Tackle Unemployment," the Right Honorable Lloyd George undertakes to show why the United States, industrially, has been so much more prosperous than Great Britain. To drive the point home, he uses the American telephone system as an example.

He calls attention to the fact that, even in this year of business depression, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company undertook additional expenditures of about 200 million dollars. This amount is in excess of normal expenditures.

According to the estimate by Lloyd George, capital expenditures for telephones in the United States, during this single year of business depression, will be about 200 million dollars more than the TOTAL capital value of the telephone system of Great Britain and Northern Ireland. He asserts that the prosperity of the United States has resulted from aggressive expansion of this kind.

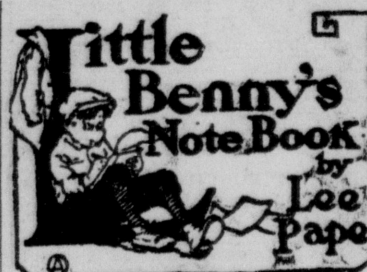

As a matter of fact, the number of telephones per thousand of population, according to the latest comparable figures for all countries, are:

United States	158
Canada	132
New Zealand	100
Denmark	93
Sweden	77
Australia	72
Norway	64
Switzerland	56
Germany	44
Great Britain	36

Lloyd George is right: The United States does not have so many telephones because it is prosperous. In a very real sense, it is prosperous because it has so many telephones.

Confronted with the backwardness of Great Britain as shown in this table, the very conservative Conservatives say, "Excuse it, please." To which even a Liberal who is not very liberal, is inclined to reply, "There isn't any excuse."

OVERLOOKED INTERNATIONALISMS

We'll never get out of the economic muddle we're in," I overheard a prosperous looking American say yesterday in the club-car of a Chicago to Washington train, "until we step on the internationalists, and step on them hard."

It was obvious, as he talked on, that he was using "internationalist" as many use "red" and "bol-shevik" and "communist" to describe, not some actual belief or propaganda, but simply someone with whom they happen to disagree.

If we could only declare and enforce a statute of limitation on such epithets!

If the things we call people could always be descriptions instead of damnings!

If we could be accurate instead of angry!

As the man in the club-car talked on and on, I kept thinking of the many things that are international.

Birth is international.

Babies are born quite regardless of political boundaries. The human urge to reproduction is above the battle of politics and patriotism.

Hunger is international.

The cry of a hungry baby and the tragic look in the eyes of a starving man are an Esperanto that cuts across all the languages and dialects of the world.

Disease is international.

The bacillus is no nationalist. He floats along with no trace of race prejudice. In the blood streams of black men and brown men and white men. And the trouble he starts in Bombay may spread to Boston.

The mating instinct is international.

Lovers plight their troth in every tongue; men and women marry and are given in marriage the world around; the instinct to mate laughs at frontiers.

Death is international.

The forces of human decay operate under all flags and cannot be stayed by the glory of nation or race.

In fact, all the great fundamentals operate beneath and beyond our separatisms.

Some day we shall learn that humanity is a unity in things besides birth, hunger, disease, the mating instinct, and death.

If nothing else, economic necessity will teach us this needed lesson.

OUR CHILDREN

"DESTRUCTIVE YOUNG ANIMALS"

When mother went away on a short visit and left young Thomas to play with a half to the mercy of Uncle Thomas and the nurse, she left a pile of blocks in the playroom and another pile in the sunny corner of the yard.

"Just let him play with his blocks for an hour or so every morning and again in the afternoon, outside if it's good weather, inside if it's not, and he'll be quite all right. Mary Ellen will take charge of him. Just keep an eye on him, that's all."

"Is this all the poor child has to play with?" asked Uncle Thomas kicking the blocks about with scornful toe. "Why don't you have some real toys for him?"

"Well, his mother doesn't know everything about children. Even bachelor uncles know some things about little boys their mothers can't be expected to know. I'm going to get my namesake some toys. Real ones."

First the delighted uncle offered Tommie a goat—a beautiful creature with long white hair and curly horns that m-a-a m-a-a-ed "just like real" when you lowered his head for him. Tommy reached for the goat with a first and steady hand. He turned it upside down and listened. It m-a-a m-a-a-ed splendidly. Uncle Thomas was more than pleased to see the wrapt look in his namesake's eyes. "You see Mary? He's interested. He likes it," said he.

"Yes, sir, he would," said Mary smiling in approbation but just then, Tommie, still wearing that intent, round-eyed solemn expression tossed the goat high over his head.

Today is the ANNIVERSARY

ROBERT KOCH'S BIRTH

On December 11, 1843, Robert Koch, a famous German physician and discoverer of the tuberculosis germ, was born at Klausthal, Prussia.

He was nearly 30 when he began the researches in bacteriology upon which his fame chiefly rests. While a member of the Imperial Board of Health in Berlin he invented new appliances for microscopic work and new ways of staining specimens which proved of inestimable value to medical science.

Soon after he had isolated the tuberculosis germ Koch was made chief of the German commission which was sent to Egypt and India to investigate cholera. As a result, he discovered in 1883 the cholera germ and in the same year published a method of inoculation to prevent anthrax.

In 1905 he was commissioned by the German government to investigate West African "sleeping sickness" and in the same year was awarded the Nobel prize for medicine. He died in 1910.

"Oh, no," he replied blandly. "That was my father."—Tit-Bits.
